Choose from a wide variety of fairly-traded and eco-friendly crafts, gifts and foods from all over the world. Charity Christmas cards will be on sale too, and there will be a visit from Father Christmas between 10.30am and 12noon. Refreshments will also be served.

The Corby Cube is now completed

The Corby Cube was opened nearly 5 years ago, and although there has been some outstanding issues, work on the building has now been completed. The building cost £48m.

The Corby Cube

The fourth floor office space has now been finished and is available for rent, offering interested businesses a unique and central location in the heart of the town. The building also houses Corby Borough Council offices, One Stop Shop, a library, the Register Office and The Cube Theatre which is going from strength to strength.

Although The Cube was opened in November 2010 there were problems with the building – including a leaking roof and a helical staircase that was declared dangerous by Building Inspectors.

Corby Borough Council has expressed its disappointment with the time the building has taken to complete and accepts that lessons have been learned. They are now looking forward to welcoming new tenants to what is an iconic building

With all this behind them now, the building is fully functional and is an impressive structure. It has been a catalyst in attracting other businesses to the town such as the new Savoy cinema that sits just alongside.

Give your child the perfect start in a school where small class sizes mean individual attention.

If you would like to submit a letter to the editor please send it to news@nenevalleynews.co.uk for consideration. The maximum word count is 200 words.

Dear Editor,
Thank you for your article on the refurbished Fletton House; I worked in the building for over 10 years as an advisor for Citizens Advice until the main building closed down. When I visited the building last Friday I found it hard to imagine the old rooms we had occupied. The change is amazing and I think we who live in Oundle have now a public building to be proud of; The Hub is a unique venue for meeting and eating and I sincerely thank our town council for all the hard work they have put into this gem of a building.

Dear Editor,
New Ranger Cadet Squadron needs help
Readers will be interested to learn of a new cadet unit being opened at Crow Hill Community Centre, Fettleline Road, Irthlingborough NN9 5XF. The Ranger Cadets, part of Northamptonshire Independent Cadets, is a new concept, for in addition to adventure training activities young people will be taking part in Forestry Commission conservation projects.

The group, which will be entirely self-funding, opens on Thursday 22nd October 6.30-8.30pm with membership being open to junior cadets, 8-11 years and cadets, 12-17 years. Activities will include adventure training, navigation, weekend camps; field cooking, forestry conservation, drumming and bugling, plus ceremonial and sports.

The Rangers are now recruiting cadets and are also keen to hear from adults willing to give up a little of their free time, as potential officers or adult instructors. Whilst former members of HM Armed Services of Cadet Forces will have an advantage, training will be provided.

What we can promise cadets and adult volunteers is lots of fun and adventure.

Genealogy jottings

One branch of my family came from Sussex, deep in the countryside of a county that I did not know very well. Off I went and bought OS (Ordnance Survey) maps of the area as well as town plans, so that I could get a better idea of where they lived. Whilst this was a good idea in itself, places do have a tendency to change over the years – towns expand and hamlets can all but disappear. If you have a look at a map of Oundle even as late as 1926, for instance, you will find a windmill at the back of Glapthorn Road. It is long gone and houses now stand in Millfields, the name being a legacy of what was once there.

I grew up in St Albans in Hertfordshire and was always fascinated as to why there was a Ladysmith Road and a Kimberley Road – where had these names come from? The answer was the Boer War, where sieges and battles had taken place at Ladysmith and Kimberley. These gave me the clue that I would be unlikely to find any houses there prior to 1899 and so would not find the streets in the 1891 census. However, in those censuses there was no Normandy Road off which they ran, although the Workhouse

By Jan Pearson
Genealogy Specialists, Tracing Our Past, Discovering Our Genes (TOP DOG)
www.genealogy-specialists.com

– now St Albans City Hospital – was very much in evidence. Then the penny dropped: Normandy Road used to be called Union Lane, named after the Parish Union that was responsible for the Workhouse. The road was renamed after the Second World War to remember the Normandy landings.

Roads are also named after people. Who were Harris Close in Raunds, Jennings Close in Higham Ferrers and William Trigg Close in Irthlingborough all named after? Maybe one of your own ancestors had a street or house named after them. There is a house called 'Wuddy's Cottage' between Ashdon and Steventon End in Essex, named after Wuddy Smith, one of my ancestors. I didn't realise that it was there until I discovered it on a visit to the area. I was rather chuffed to find that!

Get those maps out and see what you can find!

Editor's notes

My notes in the last edition have sparked zero response, which leads me to the conclusion that either no one bothered to read them or there is nothing readers wish to see changed. I prefer to take the latter view, obviously because the first option is unpalatable, so we'll press on trying to provide what we think you would like to read.

What does continue to surprise me is the lack of enthusiasm out there for getting local stories into print; is there really no one prepared to spend a little time writing a good news story about an event in the District, perhaps something they wish to promote or report? Obviously, if it's pre-event promotion there will be a discussion to be had about whether the contributor should be paying for an advertisement but if that's the case there will probably be increased revenue to be had from higher attendance because the subject reaches our estimated 100,000 readers.

Just by way of getting a point off my own chest, I have to comment on the letter we carried recently about driving and the best way to slow down a vehicle; I have to side with the correspondent who wrote to say that moving down through the gears was the best way to do this. Surely, the most important factors influencing this discussion are that by using the gears the vehicle is in the best possible contact with the road surface and the engine is in the right state to accelerate away safely from whatever prompted the need to slow down. And while I'm on the subject of driving, isn't it the case that a car should generally be reversed into a parking space because it's more manoeuvrable going backwards and in order that you can see more easily where you're going on leaving?

We would really like to hear your views – please send these to the Editor at news@nenevalleynews.co.uk

Waitrose launches exclusive cake decorating competition to mark Queen's 90th birthday

Her Majesty will be 90 years old on 21st April next year – and on 9th September, she became the longest-reigning monarch in British history, surpassing Queen Victoria's previous record of 63 years, 216 days. So what better way to celebrate than with a special birthday cake?

The winning design will be chosen by a panel of judges, including celebrated cake maker Fiona Cairns and the organisers of The Queen's 90th Birthday Celebration at Windsor Castle next May, for which Waitrose is an official partner.

Rupert Thomas, Waitrose marketing director, said: "We are a nation of passionate and creative cooks, and I know the designs will be fit for such a historic celebration. We'll be looking for cake decorations that not only look really lovely but also show what The Queen means to all of us."

Simon Brooks-Ward, who is the director of the festivities taking place at Windsor Castle in May, said: "We are delighted that Waitrose is celebrating The Queen's 90th birthday in this way. It is a great idea that allows everyone to take part."

The winning design will top a Waitrose Duchy Organic fruit cake, and will be available to buy from Waitrose stores from 21st April.

Wellingborough Air Cadet unit sends its sporting heroes to the next level

On Sunday 27th September three sporting cadets from 378 (Mannock) Squadron were selected to represent the Air Training Corps South and East Midlands Wing at their forthcoming clash against football and hockey teams from all around the region.

Budding athletes, Cadet Corporal Sean Lyddall and Cadet Jake Leadbitter, both 15, were both selected to represent the Wing in the football team, while Cadet Sukhmani Sandu, 14, was chosen to take the girls' hockey team to the next level.

All three are looking forward to earning their 'Wing Blue' and are set to compete at RAF Cranwell in Lincolnshire later this month. Mannock Squadron's Commanding Officer, Flight Lieutenant Mike Stock, said: "It is fantastic that our cadets have been selected. The Squadron is certainly punching above its weight in its representation of the Wing in sports and we are all very proud of Sukhmani, Jake and Sean who have all worked extremely hard."

The Squadron, based at Spring Gardens in Wellingborough, is currently recruiting new cadets to its ranks. Volunteers or young people interested in learning more about the RAF Air Cadets in Wellingborough can visit: www.378aircadets.org or the Squadron's Facebook page at: www.facebook.com/Mannock.

Fundraising Review from the National Council for Voluntary Organisations

Last week, a final report was published on 'Regulating fundraising for the future: Trust in charities, confidence in fundraising regulation.'

Many of the headline recommendations include:

- Establishing a new Fundraising Regulator that would replace the current FRSB. All charities that spend over £100,000 a year on fundraising from the public would be expected to contribute to the costs of the regulator. The new Regulator would own the Code of Fundraising Practice and adjudicate against it. It would also be equipped with a range of stronger sanctions, from 'naming and shaming' to cease and desist orders.
- Merging the Institute of Fundraising and the Public Fundraising Regulatory Association into a single professional body which would focus on training and promoting good practice.

- Setting up a new Fundraising Preference Service that would allow members of the public to opt out of receiving any fundraising communications at all.

Comprehensive Spending Review

In addition, the Comprehensive Spending Review will take place on 25th November. In preparation Government departments have been tasked to plan ways to cut up to 40% from their budgets by 2019-20 in a bid to find an additional £20bn savings in public spending.

What are the implications of further reductions and proposals? To ensure that key goals such as putting services in the hands of local communities, and increasing the role of voluntary organisations in the delivery of public services, can still be achieved.

Public Trust in Charities

Public trust in charities has fallen to its lowest level for eight years, according to a poll by nfpSynergy. It found that just 53% of people now trust charities "quite a lot" or "a great deal", down 3% on last year and down 13% since 2013. Nearly a third of people (29%) say they have "not much" trust in charities, while one in 10 trust them "very little", the sector's worst figures since 2007.

While levels of public trust remain high, the result suggests trust has fallen since last year when a similar poll by the Charity Commission found 71% trusted charities.

Let us know your thoughts on this topic.

Local funds to help can-do communities

East Northamptonshire Council's funding scheme for local community projects is open for applications.

Each district councillor is allocated £1,000 per year for small community-based projects managed by parish/town councils, community groups, voluntary organisations and charities in East Northants.

The funding stream, known as the Member Empowerment Fund, supports community events, sports activities, environmental enhancements, local facility improvements, equipment for youth groups and projects that promote safer communities.

Since the scheme began in June 2011, communities have benefitted from over £130,000 of grant funding including:

- Speed activated signs to improve road safety in Denford
- Trees and equipment for the Stanwick Pocket Park community orchard
- Refurbishment of toilet facilities at Thrapston Sports Club
- A community notice board for Newton Road, Rushton
- Damp proofing and redecoration of the King's Cliffe Underground youth centre

- Creation of a basketball and football area at Thurning Village Hall
- Security timers for residents in the Oundle area
- A PA system for Waterloo Drummers and Performing Arts group

Steven North, Leader of East Northamptonshire Council says: "We have a lot of can-do communities in this district who just need a bit of financial help to make their projects a reality. That's where councillors can help with their Member Empowerment Fund. If you have a community project in mind that fits the criteria, have a chat with your local councillor to see if they can help."

Another grant scheme, the Community Facilities Fund which helps with larger capital projects, is now closed for this year. Awards will be listed on www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/cff in January 2016.

To find out more about the Member Empowerment Fund, visit www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/mef or speak to your local district councillor. To find their contact details, visit www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/councillors or phone 01832 742000.

Oundle School Jazz Orchestra (OSJO) on Tour

'It don't mean a thing if it ain't got that swing'

At the start of the summer holidays, forty-three pupil musicians and members of Oundle School's Jazz Orchestras (OSJO1 and OSJO2) along with six members of staff boarded a coach bound for Lausanne for the start of their jazz tour. The bands performed in four concerts: two at the renowned Montreux Jazz Festival, one in Lausanne itself, and one just on the French side of Lake Geneva in the beautiful town of Lugrin.

On the first evening, the bands settled down to a rehearsal in the open courtyard of the hostel in front of the surprised youth hostellers. This went down a treat with the guests – some even filming the pupils as they struggled to keep their eyes open on their impromptu garden stage. They revised and polished a few numbers before retiring for the night.

A leisurely breakfast was followed by a trip to the Olympic Museum, a dip in the Piscine de Bellerive and then it was time for their first scheduled concert – a 'gig' in the auditorium of a local casino had been lined up that evening. The next morning the bands prepared for their first 'gig' at the renowned Montreux Jazz Festival.

Saxophonist Hugo Walford (16) commented: "The extravagant recording equipment scattered across the stage was intimidating but we rather enjoyed being individually miked and sound-checked! The stage was set... and it was fantastic to see hundreds of people gather and listen to Music in the Park."

OSJO2 (Oundle's apprentice band) began their set with their favourite rendition of 'It Don't Mean a Thing'. OSJO1 then took over, relishing the opportunity to play to their biggest audience yet. Their three vocalists, Cazzie Winterton (17), George Cobb (16), and Sarah Boyle (17) sang brilliantly, with Henry Sleight's (16) clarinet solo being especially noteworthy. CD sales went through the roof!

Over the next couple of days, band members enjoyed a visit to the salt mines of Bex and a mountain trek with a luge-ing opportunity at the bottom. They were rewarded with the Maison Callier chocolate factory and its free and unrestrained tasting session.

There was much amusement at the start of the next concert, over on the French side of the lake in Lugrin, as the pupils appeared to have driven all the way to France just to play to a few of their parents! However within minutes of starting to play, the village square filled with villagers and there were soon plenty swinging along.

Hugo commented: "The challenge we faced this time was the setting sun, and whether stylish or not, the whole band had to wear sunglasses in order to see the music!

There were mixed feelings as we checked out of our hostel the next morning – a part of us wanted to get home and just sleep for about a week, but we had really enjoyed the sunshine and the jazzy mood of the tour. Thankfully, it wasn't over yet – we had our final 'gig' at Montreux and we were determined to make it our best one yet. It was on the same stage, but we were playing to about twice as many people."

OSJO2 kicked the concert off as usual, and enjoyed having their blues relayed around the whole festival through the speakers. OSJO1 excelled themselves as their wide repertoire was brilliantly performed and well received.

Director of Music and tour leader, Quentin Thomas commented: "It was a very happy tour – great company, superb food, a wonderful itinerary and inspirational venues fuelled the week. Thank you to all the staff who supported the pupils on tour."

Chess corner

The Silver King League is now in full swing with both Rushden A and Rushden B engaged in difficult League 1 matches against tough opponents. Newly promoted Rushden B were first into the fray with a home match against Kettering A. Nik Puryer put in a storming performance against the much higher graded Michael Meadows to secure a well deserved victory.

Another notable result during the evening was Jeff Owen's draw against Kettering's James Brutus, this was despite Jeff appearing to be in a winning position over the higher graded James who must have been relieved at the offer of a draw! Rushden new boy, Richard Ellis put up a tremendous fight on board 2 but time pressures forced him into errors in the final stages giving the victory to David Walker. The final result of 1.5-3.5 will have surprised Kettering, who with an average grade advantage of nearly 50 points would probably have expected victory on all five boards. Captain Bob Ellam can be well pleased with his team's performance and the solid platform it has given him to build on for the rest of the season.

It was then the turn of Rushden A to face Chess Mates B in an away match. A-team captain Alan Lewis led the charge overrunning Stephen Taylor who never recovered from his poor start. James Gardner was the next casualty, losing to Chess Mates' Peter Tibbert in what must have been a disappointing game for him. Saj proved to be no match for David Griggs and was left with no option but to resign. With the result standing at 2-1 in Chess Mates' favour it was down to Hugh Murphy and Nik Puryer to swing the match back Rushden's way. Hugh turned down the offer of a draw from Greg Smith who then went on to lose after running out of time. With the result standing at 2-2 it was all down to Nik Puryer and Ricky Vaja who were the last men standing in this epic battle. The game was a tight affair with Nik defending well against Ricky's attack and playing himself into a potentially winning position. As the game progressed it turned as much into a battle against the clock as against each other, with Nik reluctantly accepting Ricky's offer of a draw as the sands of time ran out. All in all, it was a satisfying away result and augurs well for the return match at Rushden.

By Derrick Sims

Wellingborough air cadet soars to new heights

Cadets and staff gathered together this week to celebrate as Macauley Tinston, 19, of 378 (Mannock) Squadron Air Training Corps, was promoted to Cadet Warrant Officer. This achievement comes in the same month as he marks seven years at the Squadron.

The role of Cadet Warrant Officer is a prestigious one and comes with the highest level of responsibility a young person can achieve as a cadet. The promotion means that Macauley will now take on a more active role in helping to run the Squadron in addition to supporting the junior cadets.

The promotion was the result of many years' hard work and followed a gruelling interview process. Macauley was handed his new rank badges by Wing Commander Nigel Dickinson OBE, South and East Midlands

Wing ATC's Officer Commanding.

Macauley said: "I feel truly honoured to be promoted to Cadet Warrant Officer and am proud to be representing the Air Cadets at a more senior level. I have thoroughly enjoyed the last seven years at 378 and am really looking forward to developing my leadership skills and supporting the cadets further."

The promotion is yet another feather in Macauley's cap after he was selected to be, and spent the last year as, Lord Lieutenant's cadet for Northamptonshire. A role which has seen him travel across the county attending events and meeting members of the Royal Family.

The Squadron's Commanding Officer, Flight Lieutenant Mike Stock, said: "Cadet Warrant Officer Tinston is one of our longest serving cadets and we are delighted to see him honoured for his hard work and dedication. His achievements are down to his tremendous commitment and he is a real asset to the Squadron."

The Squadron, based at Spring Gardens in Wellingborough, is currently recruiting new cadets to its ranks. Volunteers or young people interested in learning more about the RAF Air Cadets in Wellingborough can visit: www.378aircadets.org or the Squadron's Facebook page at: www.facebook.com/Mannock.

Universal Credit to change how people get benefits

Universal Credit (UC) is being introduced by the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) to support and encourage benefits claimants to find work or earn more money. The new system replaces six current benefits:

- Income-based Job Seekers Allowance
  - Income related Employment and Support Allowance
  - Income Support
  - Working Tax Credit
  - Child Tax Credit
  - Housing Benefit
- Working with DWP, East Northamptonshire Council (ENC) will have a staggered introduction to UC, with new single Job Seeker Allowance claimants being changed over to the new system from October 2015. This will expand to couples and families from spring next year. UC will be fully integrated by 2020.

UC has been designed to be accessed online only, with the claimant receiving one monthly payment, which will include an amount to pay rent where it applies. DWP recognises that some claimants may need help with accessing their account online and financial budgeting, this help will be given by ENC staff, as well as Jobcentre Plus, who will be on hand to talk claimants through any concerns and help make the process as easy as possible.

Steven North, Leader of East Northamptonshire Council said: "The introduction of Universal Credit will hopefully make the benefits system easier to understand and give our residents who rely on it the confidence to find work and earn extra money.

"The change over will be difficult at the start, but the benefits team at East Northamptonshire Council are here to help and reassure our customers."

For more information on Universal Credit, please visit www.gov.uk/universal-credit/overview To discuss a benefits claim, please call 01832 742330 or email benefits@east-northamptonshire.gov.uk

Rushden Sea Cadet Corps TS Diamond is open for business and looking for adult volunteers

On Tuesday 3rd November Rushden Sea Cadet Corps will be hosting an Open Evening with a view to recruiting volunteer adults to support the unit in its ambitions and aspirations. We have a number of volunteering opportunities from committee members to instructor. Attendees will have the opportunity to meet some of the volunteers as well as find out about the Corps, and the development opportunities it offers.

We need your help – we need volunteers who are happy to roll up their sleeves, get involved and make a huge positive difference to the lives of the young people we work with. We have lots of roles to match your skills and we offer training to help you gain more. (You don't have to be ex-navy.)

Every weekend across the UK there are thousands of young people involved in Sea Cadet activities – learning new skills that will give them a head start in life. In fact, we work with 14,000 Sea Cadets aged between 10 and 18 – and are the UK's largest maritime youth charity, with a history dating back to 1856. In Rushden we meet at the Drill Hall in Victoria Road every Friday evening from 7pm-9pm.

So if you want to learn more, please pop down on the Open Evening. To register a place please email me on maurice.weight@cadetmail.mod.uk We look forward to meeting you.

There's a rodent in me kitchen... or there could be soon anyway

It's that time of year when mice and rats become very tempted by the warmth and shelter humans have on offer in and around their homes. Colin Campbell of Oundle based Pest Professionals is on hand with advice of how to cope with a rodent problem.

Britain is home to 14 species of rodent, and we come into contact with them most at this time of year as the temperature falls, and they become tempted by the warmth and easy pickings to be found around our homes.

Mice are extremely destructive. Anyone who has had mice in their garage or shed will testify as to how costly their gnawing habits are, and how quickly large colonies can establish. Mice also carry and spread diseases such as salmonella and need to be dealt with when in close contact with humans very quickly.

Generally speaking we are most likely to come across the house mouse, which has a brown to grey back with a lighter underside and a tail slightly shorter in length than its body. They only live for a few months, but are sexually mature inside eight weeks and will have several litters in their lifespan. They usually nest indoors and are very good climbers.

As well as damaging property, they often gnaw through electrical cables and are the cause of numerous house fires as a result. A professional baiting, trapping and proofing service is normally required to eradicate the problem.

As for rats, well not even we pest controllers especially like getting close up and personal with them! But of course we have to.

In the UK you are likely to come across the brown rat (common or sewer rat) and the black rat (ship rat).

The black rat has been with us the longest and has been found in digs in the city of London dating back to the third century. It lives only for about a year, but is sexually active in two-to-three months. Its tail is longer than its body and it's a very good climber, and can readily enter loft spaces.

The slightly bigger brown rat originated in Asia and was first recorded in Europe only in the 18th century. Its tail is slightly shorter than its body. The brown rat often lives in the ground and in sewers and drains. Rats eat just about anything, and need an easily available source of water.

Rats carry Weil's disease, which can be fatal to humans, in their urine. Like mice they are also a significant fire threat because of their tendency to gnaw through electrical cables. Rats can also cause structural damage to the property.

Property owners have a legal obligation to keep premises rodent free, or, if rodents pose a threat to health or property, to report infestations.

What You Can Do

Seal gaps around pipes and under sheds; rats only need a gap of 15mm and mice 6mm to gain entry.

Remove potential nesting sites by keeping yards and gardens tidy, cutting back overgrown areas and clearing any piles of debris.

Cover any household waste where rats can get access to it, close dustbin lids and cover compost heaps.

If you feed garden birds, do not do this to excess and use a bird table or feeder basket if possible. Rodents will be attracted both by the nuts and seeds and the bird droppings.

What We Can Do

To guarantee removal, we recommend you contact a pest controller, as we have the experience, plus access to a range of tools, rodenticides and traps not available to the general public.

Our first job is to try and identify where the mice are coming from. From this point we can discuss proofing methods with you, before implementing the use of a combination approach pairing trapping with professional rodenticides in tamper resistant bait stations.

Originally established in 2013, Little Bugs Club is a monthly session for under 5s and their families and provides positive first experiences of wildlife and nature through fun and interactive activities. The group is run by trained and enthusiastic volunteers and will subsequently meet on the second Tuesday of each month. Louisa Allebone, one of the group's previous attendees and mum to Nora (4) and Betsy (2), says: "It is so wonderful to hear Little Bugs Club is on again! We love the fun, nature-inspired activities that are put on each month. The volunteers' enthusiasm is always so infectious and engaging; we can't wait for October."

Louise Tuffin, Nene Valley Education and Community Manager at the Wildlife Trust, says: "We're really pleased to be resuming our Little Bugs Club in Irthlingborough. Inspiring children about the natural world from an early age is critical to ensure a secure future for our local wildlife, and Little Bugs Club is an ideal way to do this. The volunteers who run the group are brilliant, and we're hoping that lots of families will come and join us in October."

Activities that have been enjoyed at Little Bugs Club include making bird feeders, sowing flower seeds, table-top pond-dipping, doing leaf rubbings and much more. Lots of the sessions also incorporate a wildlife-themed story or song. Attendance is £1 per child (adults are free) which goes towards room hire costs and resources.

Urgent Appeal!

Support needed for Barnwell Country Park North Lake Path – Hard Surfacing.

The Friends are looking to work with the park to put in a funding bid for the continuation of the hard surfaced path around North Lake. The uncompleted section is very muddy in the winter and then sets hard and bumpy in the summer. We wish to help improve accessibility of the path network so people with lower mobility can enjoy more of the park and the beautiful scenery.

In order to raise the funding for the completion of the hard paving of the North Lake Path, we need to demonstrate there is support for this project from the park users. Can you please come to the park and sign the form in the Visitors Centre.

Your involvement and show of support will ensure that this project is completed.

Chair: Friends of Barnwell Country Park

What do you know about Gilbert & Sullivan operettas?

Bored already? Don't be. They contain humour, satire, history, good music and wonderful words and phrases to test your knowledge of the English language. Together, these two Victorian gentlemen, WS Gilbert (1836–1911) and Sir Arthur Sullivan (1842–1900) collaborated on 14 comic operas between 1871 and 1896. HMS Pinafore, The Pirates of Penzance and The Mikado are among the best known.

Gilbert, who wrote the words, created "topsy-turvy" worlds for his settings, where fairies rub shoulders with British lords, flirting is a capital offence, gondoliers become kings, and pirates turn out to be noblemen who have gone wrong. Sullivan composed the music, contributing memorable melodies that many of you will have heard before, probably without realising they were by him.

Their operettas (sometimes called the 'Savoy Operas' because the Savoy Theatre was built especially for them to be performed) have enjoyed broad and long-lasting success for well over 100 years. Most of them are still performed frequently throughout the English-speaking world and have gained considerable popularity in the USA. They have directly influenced the development of musical theatre through the 20th century, and have also had an influence on political discourse, literature, film and television.

There are several local Gilbert & Sullivan groups that you could join. Being part of a chorus, singing lively music and entertaining an audience at the same time is very rewarding. Join now and have some fun. There are at least five groups in our area.

Your ABC guide to driving safely

Driving tips supplied by your local Advanced Motorists Group.

Y. You take an advanced driving course? Advanced drivers learn to drive safely, smoothly and systematically. They use the correct speed for every circumstance acting on good observation and anticipation. They are 70% less likely to be involved in a road traffic occurrence and get satisfaction and confidence in knowing they are a competent and courteous driver.

Z. On our very busy roads Zebra and other crossings, give pedestrians the chance to cross the road in safety. Use good observation and approach them with care. Allow pedestrians to cross completely, checking that others may also be going to cross. Your courteousness will be appreciated.

Oundle School Charities Fair raises vital funds

In mid-September, Lower Sixth Form representatives from all the boarding and day houses at Oundle School put together a variety of games and stalls for the school's annual Charities Fair.

Pupils chose a variety of charities to support, including the Adam Rogers Trust, Bloodwise, Wateraid and the British Heart Foundation. Wood Green animal shelter and the local Air Ambulance were also represented, with a total of just under £1000 raised.

Head of Charities, Ian Clark commented: "The event provides an opportunity for fund and awareness raising and also helps new pupils to the school get a taste for philanthropic activities. Some stalls were just for fun (throwing sponges at teachers and an egg roulette game!) whilst others raised awareness of real issues such as a memory testing game for Alzheimer's UK.

Pupil, Harriet Tsang (16) commented: "The atmosphere was brilliant at the charity event, which involved pupils and teachers alike. We were lucky to have such good weather. My house (New House) raised about £150 for the Air Ambulance Northampton, which aims to provide a rapid response to medical or trauma emergencies.

"Our stall was one of many which included a mixture of games, including a pin game, pin the fin on the shark, a photo booth and face painting. It was a very rewarding experience and with so much money being raised for a multitude of charities, I think that we all had a very successful afternoon. It was a really good bonding experience between the year groups."

Ian concluded: "Last year, the school raised in excess of £114,000 for local, national and international charities with Fourth

Oundle School Charities Fair

Form (Year 10) pupils also involved in the Big Give Philanthropy in Schools programme. We look forward to building on this in 2015-2016, with many different charity initiatives already planned."

WI 100-year anniversary marked in Glapthorn

Having initially been formed as Southwick WI, the members of the now Glapthorn WI were thrilled at being invited to hold their Centenary Garden Party by kind permission of the Capron Family in the wonderful grounds of Southwick Hall.

A grand occasion was planned down to the finest detail and members, husbands and special guests gathered to celebrate the WI Centenary in style.

Northamptonshire Federation Chair, Sue Kendall and Vice Chair, Margaret Foster joined in the celebrations which included

Pimm's, Afternoon Tea, a celebration cake and a Prosecco toast to the Women's Institute.

Presentations were made to Glapthorn Member Bridget Capron whose mother, The Honourable Mrs Capron was a founding member of Southwick and Glapthorn WI.

On behalf of Members, Sue Kendall made a special presentation to President Wendy Knowles who was instrumental in saving Glapthorn WI from suspension in 2010. Since this time, Glapthorn WI has grown from strength to strength and is a very active WI.

Brassed Off in Thrapston

Brassed Off, the well-known play by Paul Allen and adapted for stage by Mark Herman is to be performed in The Plaza, Thrapston, by Thrapston Amateur Dramatic Society and featuring Thrapston Town Band.

Set in the 1990s, this is a very touching and savage account about the closing of yet another Yorkshire coal face, what happens to a community when its purpose for existence is suddenly taken away and the loss of its brass band.

A must see production, bring a hanky! Contains strong language.

Performances take place 11th-14th November at The Plaza Centre, Cozy Nook, Thrapston NN14 4PS. Doors open 7.15pm. Tickets £8, concessions £6.

Box Office telephone 07543 321219. Online at tadsonline.org.uk or in Thrapston Town Council Office from 26th Oct-11th Nov 10am-12noon. As this is an extremely popular play, book early to avoid disappointment.

A celebration of the beauty of the English Parish Church

I first paid a visit to the redundant church of All Saints at Aldwincle on a gloriously sunny Saturday afternoon in 2010. Conditions for taking photographs were ideal, with hardly a cloud in the sky.

Sadly though, the tower of All Saints had scaffolding surrounding it and it was looking far from its best. I promised myself a return visit when the scaffolding was down and this happened in the late summer of 2013, a gorgeous day with plenty of sun.

Aldwincle is a relatively small village not far from Thrapston, out towards the western edge of the catchment area of this site. In the mid 1990s the population was around 320. However, this village has two medieval churches, with the church of St Peter at the other end of the village. It was seen to be a drain on village resources to maintain the two churches and All Saints, which had been virtually disused for 100 years, was declared redundant in 1976. These days All Saints is looked after by the Churches Conservation Trust.

This is a lovely area of East Northamptonshire and an area where, for the most part, churches are open and welcoming. Having just visited St Peter and found that open, I was pleased to see the "Church Open" sign out.

The poet John Dryden was born here, at the Old Rectory opposite the church in 1631. He was one of 14 children born to Erasmus Dryden and Mary Pickering! John Dryden's mother's father was Henry Pickering, who was the Rector here for 40 years. Pickering died in 1637 and his gravestone, now very worn, has been brought inside the church to protect it. The inscription on this stone reads: "Here lyeth the body of Henry Pykering Rector of this parish for the space of 40 years who departed this life September 1637 aged 75. Just dealing meekness charitye being such at Heavens command he practized very much for which Heavens comfort failed not when he cryed. He lived to a full age, yet bewailed he died."

The church here is mainly 13th century in date, with the tower dating from the 15th century. The tower is very striking and dominates the landscape for miles around. There are four pinnacles, one on each corner of the tower, and at one point each of these would have had a weathervane on them, as they still are at nearby Lowick.

There are some very fine quality gargoyles and grotesques here. I was particularly taken by what can only be described as a surprised owl!

Just a single bell remains here, this being cast by John Taylor of Loughborough in 1905. When North was compiling his Victorian study of Northamptonshire church bells there were five bells hanging here. All of these were sadly melted down in 1903 to help make a new ring for neighbouring St Peter. The new bell by Taylor was hung a couple of years later.

The eldest of the bells that previously hung at All Saints was made at the Stamford Bellfoundry, being cast by Thomas Norris in 1637. Two bells were dated 1720, and I am not sure who the founder was on these two. A further bell was cast in 1724 by Thomas Eayre of Kettering. The final bell was just dated 1830, with no founder's name. All sadly gone now.

The south side of this church is a curious affair, which is not going to win any architecture awards. Lots of building has been done here at various times, none in the same style as the others, the last being in 1950 when the south porch had to be rebuilt after it was damaged by a falling tree.

With the church not being used for services any more, the Georgian box pews that were previously here have been taken out.

Over the chancel arch is a painting of the Royal Arms and two paintings detailing the Ten Commandments. The Ten Commandments are placed either side of the Royal Coat of Arms and there is much damage, particularly on the left hand panel. The plain font is octagonal and dates from the 13th century.

Despite this being a redundant church, the grounds are well looked after. There are a great many gravestones here, but to be truthful there was very little here to catch my eye, with the exception of the striking figure at the bottom right of this page. It looks as if there has been a fairly extensive clearance of the church grounds at some point back in time and there is little of any real quality but a well preserved box tomb still marking the final resting place of one Joan Thorp still has a perfectly readable date of 1655 on it.

There is a lychgate in the northwest corner of the church grounds, and with the beautiful perpendicular tower standing just to the side of it, this really is quite beautiful. There is a war memorial to the fallen of Aldwincle to the north of the grounds.

Aldwincle is a lovely place to visit if you are in the area.

Friends Groups – a new accord

We are in challenging and changing times and libraries are rapidly becoming even more indispensable to local communities through the development of LibraryPlus.

In short we are becoming community hubs. With your help and support we can enhance our offer to our communities.

We will:

- Ensure your local Library Manager plays an active role in your Friends Groups including providing information about what your library needs
- Give regular updates on the library service direction and give you an opportunity to be involved in library e.g. library service planning
- Listen to your feedback
- Be clear in communicating what your financial contribution does
- Ensure you are able to network with other Friends Groups
- Support each group with a constitution
- Provide a regular newsletter
- Offer support for planning and fundraising

We invite you to:

- Support the widening brief for libraries
- Adopt the Constitution
- Support the role of libraries to deliver to all local people
- Have a Friends Group that is representative of your local community
- Raise awareness of the library through local publicity and promotion
- Provide financial assistance to enhance and support the library service in agreement with the Library Manager
- Work with us to achieve donations and monies from third parties including councillor Empowerment funds
- Hold events and activities that raise money and raise the profile of the library in the community – in agreement with the Library Manager

Together we will:

- Plan ahead so that events and activities complement and do not conflict
- Ensure any approaches to third parties are communicated and co-ordinated by informing Programme Coordinator Bequests and Giving

Super Moon, Super Diamonds The moon and Diamonds Youth teams shine bright

Did you manage to see any youth games in the last two weeks? Did you give my suggestion of match day silence a try? If you did, how'd it go? Raging or relaxation? Fermenting or Fine? Angered or angelic?

The poem I included in my last report had me thinking this week, the sentiment of staying positive, saying only encouraging things to the players on the pitch, has a commendable enough ring to it, but the question I raised to myself was: Is there a time when our young ones are training or playing when something other than kind words are needed? Is there a time when it is more suitable to be truthful or direct and to the point? Do pushing, driving and raising expectations, not being happy, with 'where we are' have a place in our childrens development? I'm not going to provide any sort of answer, talk about it amongst yourselves...

Last time out I mentioned that one team

Under 14 Girls against Old Grammarians didn't have a game on the opening weekend of the season, the Girls Under 12s, they had to wait until the following Sunday for their first game, so how did it go?

AFC Rushden & Diamonds U12 14-0 Earls Barton U12. WOW!

What a start, a seven-a-side game with five different scorers, I think the whole team deserve to have their names in print, fantastic effort each and every one of you!

Most of all, regardless of the score, I know from Kevin that they just loved playing their part in the day, pulling on the pristine white shirt and getting to play some football.

Their following match was against last season's league winners. They went down 3-1 in the end but I've been reliably informed that they enjoyed that match even more than the first one of the season – a real end-to-end battle, in which they played with pride and aplomb.

At the risk of this turning into a girls only week I do have two other items of note:

I doubt many of you are aware, but Northamptonshire FA has recently started an ACC (Advanced Coaching Centre) for girls in the county. Some of our girls were asked to attend trials and I've been bursting to tell you that three of our players have been accepted into the centre at their respective age groups, with one, Kirsten Bull, also being asked to attend regional trials.

I think I may need to send out a memo to the coaches of our mixed gender teams to tell them they need to start upping their game—these girls are showing us how it's done. Hugely proud!

Secondly, then, we'd like to offer to all those in the Nene Valley area, the opportunity to become part of this exciting girls' setup.

We have teams at U10s, U12s, U14s, U16s and open age up and running, and we would love to get some more of you playing. Please get in touch, either through the contact form on www.afcdiamondsyouth.com or by calling Kevin Bull on 07926 903 221. He would love to hear from you and I'd love to report here that we have even more players joining us on our journey through this season.

To be fair, it isn't only the girls who have had a blistering start to the season. Let's take a quick glance at Dan Richards – he of 'starting the girls revolution at AFC' fame – and his U13 Whites team. Let's see how they're getting on:

Game 1: Great Doddington U13 0-5 AFC Rushden & Diamonds Whites U13

Game 2: AFC Rushden & Diamonds Whites U13 4-3 Irchester Romans U13

Game 3: Corby Warriors Spartans U13 4-6 AFC Rushden & Diamonds Whites U13

Game 4: AFC Rushden & Diamonds Whites U13 4-1 Corby Kingswood White U13

U13 League Table

| POS                             | P | W | D | L | GD | PTS |
|---------------------------------|---|---|---|---|----|-----|
| 1 AFC Rushden & Diamonds Whites | 4 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 11 | 12  |
| 2 Irchester Romans              | 4 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 14 | 6   |
| 3 Corby Warrior Spartans        | 3 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 2  | 6   |

You think maybe I can skip sending the rallying memo to Dan?

A great beginning by them, all that's needed now is a great middle and a similar ending.

I think I will ask Dan or one of the parents for a full match report from their next game, see if I can get them to give us a picture of how things are progressing.

A team in action that hasn't been mentioned in my column as yet... one of our Pan-disability teams.

Last of all, an apology to Mr Graeme Swanson. Last week we featured some photographs of our Under 10s providing the half-time match entertainment at a recent senior game. These were incorrectly credited, totally my error. My humble apologies and a huge thanks to Graeme for providing the images. Those who know Graeme know how important it is that I apologise: you see, he is a seven-foot Scottish man built entirely from recycled Irn-Bru cans! You can understand my urgency.

Oh, one final thing... The AFC Senior team home game on 17th October against Potters Bar Town is also our community sponsors day. The community side of the club sponsor the game, and we invite all those who have sponsored our teams this year down for the match. We hope to have plenty of our young players down there to provide half-time entertainment too. It would be great if you could join us.

See you next time!

Mark Cullen,

AFC Rushden & Diamonds Youth
