2018 Northamptonshire Council of the Year

At the annual general meeting of the Northamptonshire County Association of Local Councils (NCALC), the CEO Danny Moody announced that the winner of the 2018 Northamptonshire Council of the Year is Glapthorn Parish Council.

Danny Moody said to the delegates: "As the debate on devolved services, as a consequence of Local Government Reorganisation, gathers pace I hear the county and district councils talking about how larger town councils could perhaps take on more but that most small parish councils don't have the ability to do much more than they are already doing. I tell them not to confuse ability with capacity.

"It's true that most parish councils are very small – 50% of our members have fewer than 500 electors – but if we can build capacity there is no reason at all why small councils should be discounted in any devolution programme.

"The winner of the 2018 Council of the Year is small but perfectly formed. It has fewer than 250 electors and a precept of less than £10,000. But that doesn't stop it being the best it can be. Its size doesn't stop it being run in a proper and business-like way and aspiring to deliver more for its community.

"Last year it took out a loan to upgrade its street lighting to modern and energy efficient LED. Many parish councils across the county are following suit. And earlier this year the council completed a Neighbourhood Plan with 88% of votes cast in favour of adopting the plan with an incredible 61% turnout. The Neighbourhood Plan was delivered within budget and in under two years from start to finish proving that at least some councils in Northamptonshire are capable of good project management!

"Of course, at the heart of the council's successes are its people. The council has a highly professional, organised and diligent clerk, who is supported by the council. The council's chairman is a through-and-through communitarian, and he is ably assisted by a full complement of six other councillors....

"...This small council demonstrates that even with limited capacity a great deal can be achieved with the right ingredients: an able clerk and chairman, a strong team of councillors... a desire to make the community a better place to live, work and play and, above all, a passion to be the best it can be."

In Brief

Scheme to help protect people with dementia

Northamptonshire Police is introducing a scheme to help keep people with dementia safe.

The Herbert Protocol encourages families and carers of people living with dementia to compile key information about them on a form, including their description, a current photograph, medical information, favourite locations, hobbies, routines and more.

The Herbert Protocol form can be downloaded from the Northamptonshire Police website and completed electronically or by hand. Stored securely in the home of the person it relates to, the form can be handed to police if they are reported missing.

If the person it relates to goes missing, relatives or friends are advised to call 999 and tell the call handler that a completed Herbert Protocol form exists. It is then emailed or handed to police officers, and returned when the person is found.

Download the Herbert Protocol form and find out more at www.northants.police.uk/HerbertProtocol

Our sister companies have their own specific skilled and employed teams from landscapers to plumbers, carpenters, tilers and decorators.

Letters to the editor

If you would like to submit a letter to the editor please send it to news@nenevalleynews.co.uk for consideration. The maximum word count is 200 words.

Dear editor,
As a resident of Irthlingborough I both drive and walk in and out of the village on a frequent basis. I have noticed on several occasions that motorists, who obviously have no time to spare, are using the old A6 road over the bridge towards Chowns Mill Roundabout as a shortcut so that they don't have to wait their turn in the traffic queue approaching the roundabout. This is not only extremely selfish, as everyone has places to go and things to do at an allocated time, which they are being delayed from by these inconsiderate drivers, but it is also very dangerous. When these motorists take this shortcut, they speed through the old road at ever increasing speeds. On many occasions I have been walking across the old bridge and have nearly been mown down by these cars in their haste to shave a few seconds off their journeys. Please can we all be a little more considerate and careful and take our turn in the traffic queues before someone, maybe a small child, gets seriously injured or killed on the old A6 bridge – or should we get the road permanently blocked to stop the problem?

A Concerned Irthlingborough Resident

Subscriptions. Which one to get? Well, it really does depend upon what you are searching for. No single online subscription is going to give you access to all of the records that may be useful to you. The Library does have free access to Find My Past and the British Newspaper Archives, so I would suggest that you try those first of all to see if they might help. If that is not possible, always keep your eye out for offers such as free access to online records over Christmas or Bank Holidays. Most subscription sites will ask you for credit or debit card details, which you must remember to remove before the offer ends. Otherwise, you could find yourself paying out for an annual subscription that you did not want! Alternatively, paying for a one-off weekly or monthly subscription could also give you either all of the answers that you were searching for or, at the very least, a taste of what that site can offer. Do you have a lot of military ancestors? Do you need access to foreign records? Does one particular website hold the parish records in which you are interested? Dipping your toes in the water of the various websites is the best way to decide. I have a couple of subscriptions and, so that it does not cost me too much, ask for contributions towards them as Christmas and birthday presents.

However, there are also lots of free websites that can help: FreeBMD is great for searching for birth, marriage and death records. Once found, you can use the references to order certificates from the General Register Office (GRO); FreeREG covers many parishes with transcriptions of their registers; FreeCEN – as it says, free access to census records. These are not 100% complete but are certainly excellent places to start.

Editor's notes

Miracles do happen!
Northamptonshire County Council have found the money to fund repairs to the Oundle North bridge. Until a few days ago it seemed that there would be a very long-term weight and width restriction on traffic using the bridge but there is now a plan to have the necessary work begin early in the new year and be completed by the end of 2019. It seems the key to this change has been an agreement with central government for in-year funding to be reserved for use during the following accounting period. A couple of elements of the work plan have yet to be resolved: these are the routing of Stagecoach's X4 bus, and the imposition of a one-way traffic system around the town to ensure that large vehicles don't clog up the town centre. Oundle Town Council are working on these issues and are optimistic that both can be brought to satisfactory conclusions. The Council deserve credit for the determined manner in which they have pursued this matter; thanks must also go to local MP Tom Pursglove for his support.

Staying on the subject of roads, NCC's programme of works on major routes will come to a temporary halt for the Christmas and New Year period. Work on strategic routes ceases on 3rd December for a month, beginning again on 3rd January 2019. Councillor Ian Morris, County Council Cabinet Member for Transport, Highways and Environment, said: "We all know that in the run-up to Christmas the amount of traffic on our roads increases enormously as people head to shops all over the county and head towards festive social events. Because of this, we take a decision each year to stop any planned highways works on major roads as this would make traffic congestion much worse. This makes complete sense, not just to people enjoying the run-up to Christmas but to the businesses in the county."

Work will still be taking place in response to emergencies and on minor routes where traffic flows are lighter. Check on your travel plans or parking arrangements at: www.smartmovenorthamptonshire.net

Although it's not strictly in our District we want to note the closure of the Rockingham Speedway. The final races at the Corby circuit took place last weekend and the site, including the race track which was opened by the Queen in 2001, will now be put to other commercial uses. A brave venture which didn't excite enough interest in a fairly crowded and specialist market.

Finally, congratulations to Glapthorn Parish Council on being voted the 2018 Northamptonshire Council of the Year by the Northamptonshire County Association of Local Councils. The full logic behind the award is reported elsewhere in this edition but we need to recognise the hard work of the Councillors and others in this small Parish which has culminated in this award – congratulations.

Celebrate the festive season at Stanwick Lakes

Stanwick Lakes is celebrating Christmas with a host of fabulously festive events throughout December. Rockingham Forest Trust, the environmental charity which manages the site, has an event to suit everyone in the family, from bird walks to willow lantern workshops, tasty Christmas lunches and, of course, Santa Claus!

Santa and Mrs Claus will be at Stanwick Lakes from 10am-4pm on weekends throughout December, welcoming children into their cosy, tree-lined workshop. Pre-book your place online for Saturday 8th and Sunday 9th, Saturday 15th and Sunday 16th and Friday 21st and Saturday 22nd December via the Stanwick Lakes website. Tickets costs £6 per child and include a present, Christmas trail and craft making in the visitor centre. On Saturday 8th December, why not combine a visit to Santa with the annual Stanwick Lakes Christmas Celebration? Between 11am and 4pm the visitor centre will come alive with music and merriment; carols sung by a choir, gift stalls, children's craft activities and tasty snacks, making this a great way to start the festive season.

Every year, Stanwick Lakes marks the winter solstice with a popular magical lantern procession around the lakes, followed by carols in the outdoor theatre and refreshments in the candlelit visitor centre. This year the walk takes place from 5.30pm on Friday 21st December. Bring a torch to light your way or book a place to make a tissue and willow lantern on either Saturday 8th or Sunday 16th December. Booking is essential for the walk and the workshops by ringing the visitor centre or booking online.

December is a special time to experience the wildlife at Stanwick Lakes as Wigeon, Lapwing and Golden Plover fly south from their summer breeding grounds in Scandinavia to the warmer climate of the Nene Valley. Visit the nature reserve to spot the birds then treat yourself to a two or three course Christmas lunch, served on weekdays from Monday 10th to Thursday 20th December in the café – you can find the menu and booking details on the Stanwick Lakes website. If you want to find out more about the local birds, visit for the final event of the season: the RSPB Family Bird Walk on Boxing Day, Wednesday 26th December. The walk takes place between 10am and 12noon and welcomes all ages and booking is recommended.

For details of all of these festive events and how to book, visit www.stanwicklakes.org.uk, the Stanwick Lakes facebook page or ring the Visitor Centre on 01933 625522.

On the wild horizon

On the wild horizon is a Festive Weekend at the Nene

Wetlands Visitor Centre on Saturday 8th & Sunday 9th December, 10am to 5pm. Local choirs will be singing and bands playing outside the Visitor Centre on the Boardwalk, including Higham Rock Choir, Thrapston School Choir, the NN10 Choir and U3A Singing Group.

Share a complimentary glass of mulled wine or cup of hot chocolate and mince pies with the Trust – offered to all those shopping at the Visitor Centre that weekend.

The range of activities on offer include Drop-in decorating – making natural Christmas decorations (£3 per child) – as well as decorating willow Christmas wreaths (suitable for adults for older children); £10 per wreath, all materials included, between 11am-4pm.

There will be a Winter Wildlife Wander on Saturday 8th, 10.30am-12noon; £3 per person, booking advisable but not essential.

Developing character, raising aspirations, celebrating achievement

Since September a new education trust has been working with a number of primary and secondary schools across East Northamptonshire to enhance the education standards on offer.

Bringing together school communities through strong leadership and an emphasis on delivering high quality educational and personal support for pupils, the Nene Education Trust has emerged from the Manor

Learning Trust as it welcomed two new schools into its family of academies. The Trust now includes Manor School Sports College, Stanwick Primary School, St Peter's CE Academy and Windmill Primary School in Raunds and Newton Road School in Rushden. More schools are expected to join in the foreseeable future.

Chris Hill, Chief Executive of the Nene Education Trust, said: "At the Nene Education

Trust our ethos is quite simple: we are committed to developing character, raising aspirations, and celebrating achievement.

"It is our belief that providing opportunities that benefit the whole child is crucial for a successful school career, and alongside their academic studies, our dedicated enrichment programme enables pupils to develop their confidence and resilience through activities such as drama, dance and performing arts.

"We take great pride in our role of raising aspirations for pupils and their families in Raunds and Rushden, and look forward to continuing to work closely with our community."

Applications are now open for primary school and sixth form places. Please contact your local Nene Education Trust school to book a tour.

Cinderella visits Oundle

Oundle Cinema brushes off its dancing shoes to help audiences sit back and enjoy Matthew Bourne's Cinderella to complete the festive period in style.

Bourne recreates the sights and sounds of a war-torn London with the help of designer Lez Brotherston's sumptuous costumes and sets, winning an Olivier Award for his original designs.

Screening at 4pm on Thursday 27th December at

The Stahl Theatre, Oundle, Cinderella is suitable for families, the old and the young.

Rushden Academy turns into operating theatre

On Saturday 10th November the hall at Rushden Academy was transformed into an operating theatre with around 80 students from Year 9 up to Year 13.

Thirty-two students from Rushden Academy were able to learn about the respiratory and circulatory systems, the brain and eye. They got hands-on experience of what it is like to be a doctor or nurse and how to prepare a patient for surgery. One of the most interesting parts of the day involved logic tests that are part of the application process for medical courses. Those that stayed into the evening (until 8pm on a Saturday!) got to learn how to do a lower leg amputation.

Students speaking after the event said it was amazing, the best thing they have ever done and that they learnt so much, not just for their exam, but about the human anatomy and confirmed in their minds that a career in medicine is definitely for them.

From the Chairman

In my last column, I described some of the Armistice centenary events I had attended prior to Remembrance Sunday. These commemorations continued with four services I was honoured to join. From the raising of the Union flag as ‘The Battles O’er’ was performed by a member of Thrapston Town Band at 6am, to the lighting of the WW1 Beacon of Light at All Saints Church in Northampton in the evening, the services were moving and thought-provoking. It was wonderful to see so many people at each Act of Remembrance across the district. My civic duties continued in a different way with the Mayor of Kettering’s Civic Ball which is a fundraising event for his chosen charities, The Dementia Garden at Kettering General Hospital and two clubs which help families with children on the autistic scale, ACE (Autistic Children Embraced) and High Five. I’ve mentioned my own charities before and would like to tell you a bit about why I chose them. Pancreatic Cancer UK seeks to improve the diagnosis and prognosis for those with the disease and provides expert, personalised support and information via its UK support line. It also funds innovative research to find the breakthroughs that are needed to change how the cancer is diagnosed and treated. I became acutely aware of the devastating disease when my own father became ill with pancreatic cancer. Northamptonshire Search and Rescue is a local charity made up entirely of volunteers who rely solely on fundraising and donations to be able to operate. They regularly assist Northamptonshire Police and other statutory emergency services and are mainly called out to assist in the search for vulnerable missing people across Northamptonshire. I will be holding a fundraising event in 2019 and will announce the details in the Nene Valley News. In the meantime, if you would like to donate to either cause, you can do so online at www.pancreaticcancer.org.uk or by calling 0808 801 0707 and at northantssar.org

Local schools' collaboration launched

Six schools in the local area have signed up to a collaborative venture, the Oundle, Peterborough and East Northants Learning Partnership (OPEN LP) which will see pupils and teachers given the chance to share and enrich the educational experience. The schools involved are Kettering Buccleugh Academy, Laxton Junior, Oundle, Oundle CE Primary,

Prince William and Thomas Deacon Academy (TDA). The aims of the partnership are: first, to offer opportunities and experiences that individual schools could not, allowing pupils to work with, and be challenged by, others of similar ability or interest; then, to raise aspirations and outcomes for all pupils considering their prior attainment, interest and background; and finally, to share resources and best practice among staff.

Although the formal launch of the project was on 14th November, a number of events have already taken place and they provide a taste of what's to come. These included: Mathematical Enrichment Conferences, providing challenges for high-attaining pupils and Continuing Professional Development for teachers; an annual Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths Challenge with 40 Year 9 children from Oundle and 40 from TDA working over two days on a scientific project.

The Greenpower Engineering Project was launched for eight children from OPS who attended weekly sessions in the Patrick Engineering Centre to build an electric motorcar, which was eventually raced at Rockingham motor speedway; and another science week in which 545 participants passed through the Imperial College Planetarium or built rocket cars with a team from Swansea University's team of ambassadors connected to the Bloodhound land speed record attempt.

At the launch event, which was attended by over 60 Heads and staff of participating schools, there was a palpable enthusiasm for the scheme. Speakers addressed not only the opportunities for improved learning in an academic context but also stressed the potential for producing "fully grounded young people... having a broader impact on the community... and providing a force for social good... demonstrating the need for more than pure attainment to achieve."

Looking back from a personal perspective on the education process of 50-plus years ago, one can only envy today's pupils, supported as they are by such enthusiasm and energy and confronted by such opportunities. Follow the project on Twitter via the handle @OpenLPLearning.

The Christmas gift that supports your local charity

Oundle Volunteer Action's current fundraiser is The Oundle Jigsaw. Based on an original illustration by Gillian Dolby of Oundle's Dolby Gallery, the 1,000-piece jigsaw features shops and other buildings in the town centre, plus a host of residents and other pedestrians, both real and imaginary, going about their daily business. The jigsaw retails at £20 and is available at The Oundle Bookshop, Colemans Stationers and Dolby Gallery. The jigsaw would make an ideal Christmas present for local residents or anyone associated with the town.

All proceeds from sales of the jigsaw will go to the VA charity, supporting the valuable work they do for the local community. For further details see www.volunteeractionoundle.org.uk.

Community helps Wellingborough celebrate the countdown to Christmas

Families from across the borough joined the Borough Council of Wellingborough to celebrate the countdown to Christmas at Market Street on Saturday 24th November.

Youngsters had the opportunity to meet Father Christmas, and were given the chance to turn on the year's festive display alongside the Mayor of Wellingborough, Cllr Malcolm Ward and X Factor Finalist, Christopher Maloney.

The lucky winners were Bella (4) and Mia (3) Pettit. Bella said: "I can't believe that I got to turn on the Christmas lights and meet the Mayor of Wellingborough, as well as Prince Charming! I now can't wait for Christmas!"

Christopher Maloney, X Factor Finalist and Prince

Charming in Cinderella performing at the Castle Theatre this Christmas, said: "It was fantastic to join my cast-mates and celebrate the countdown to Christmas alongside the Mayor of Wellingborough. We got to meet so many wonderful children and their families, who all made us feel so welcome. We are really looking forward to performing at the Castle Theatre next month!"

A number of local organisations took to the stage alongside Connect FM's breakfast host, Liz

Jeeves, including Singing 4 Breathing, Wellingborough's Northamptonshire Music & Performing Arts Trust group (NMPAT) and The Skittlez, who all performed a number of festive hits before this year's Christmas lights were switched on by the Mayor of Wellingborough.

This Christmas lights switch-on was followed by a dazzling fireworks display, which was sponsored by Stanton Cross, a major mixed use development set to deliver 3,650 homes, employment areas and shopping facilities for Wellingborough in Northamptonshire.

Leader of the Borough Council of Wellingborough,

Cllr Martin Griffiths, added: "Christmas can be a joyful occasion but also a difficult time for some people so we wanted to deliver a free event to provide everyone with the opportunity to come together and celebrate the start of the festive period.

"We're delighted that so many residents from across the borough, a number of fantastic local organisations and the talented cast of Cinderella were able to join us for this year's event. We wish everyone a happy and safe Christmas."

Your Health – Don't be gloomy

We all know that exercise releases endorphins. We all know that endorphins make us feel good. And we all know that the darker days can make us feel a bit gloomy. So, how can we get those endorphins going without leaving the cosiness of our homes?

The simplest thing to do is just get up out of your chair. If you're playing/working on a laptop or tablet, try putting the device onto the kitchen worktop and standing while you're working. You can even walk on the spot while you're surfing the internet trying to work out which socks to buy someone for Christmas.

Or try the following:

- Rolling your shoulders around (I know, I always recommend this exercise, but, trust me, it's easy, free and generally painless, so what's stopping you from doing it?!)

- High knee walking on the spot. Or if walking is too easy and you've got no injuries try high knee running. Or, if you're feeling really enthusiastic do 10 star jumps.
- Belly dancing wiggles. Don't laugh! Belly dancing and hula hooping are great ways to get your body moving after you've been watching TV for an hour.
- Dancing. Yes, I ranted about this form of exercise two weeks ago, but there's a reason for that – any form of dancing is good movement.

Try the Charleston in your sitting room, or some disco in the kitchen. Go on, get up out of your chair right now and have a little dance, I dare you!

All of these things are easy to do, and by releasing some exercise endorphins, who knows, you might just reduce the winter gloominess that so many of us battle with at this time of year.

Top tip: If you can't bring yourself to dance, you can always Hoover the floors. Put some music on. Go on – have an anti-gloomy-boogie with the Hoover!

Have an active, non-gloomy week!

Council carries out waste inspections

We're all too aware of the negative impact poor recycling can have on our environment, and East Northamptonshire Council is appealing for residents to think about what they're putting in with their recycling.

The council's waste team carried out an in-depth inspection of the quality of recycling being collected from across the district and here's an example of what the team discovered:

- Black sacks and carrier bags
- Food waste
- Nappies
- Textiles and clothes
- Wood
- Green waste

When these items are placed in the green-lidded bins for recycling they can potentially spoil otherwise recyclable items. The recyclables are mostly sorted mechanically. Some contaminants can damage the sorting equipment or block sensors, while clothing can get trapped in conveyor belts and cause a jam. There is also an increased disposal cost passed on to East Northamptonshire Council by the sorting facility if the contamination level of a load we deliver exceeds the acceptable level.

Leader of East Northamptonshire Council, Cllr Steven North, said: "The majority of people take the time to recycle responsibly; however, it is disappointing that some people put non-recyclable items such as nappies and food waste into their recycling, especially when we provide a weekly food collection. This causes the bin load to be unnecessarily contaminated.

"If anyone is unsure about what can and cannot be recycled, please check our website or contact a member of our waste team who will be able to offer guidance."

Open water swimming comes to Sywell Country Park

Local people will get the chance to try one of the UK's fastest-growing sports as open water swimming comes to Northamptonshire.

Delivered by Northamptonshire County Council, open water swimming will take place at Sywell Country Park next year offering the chance to swim in a safe and controlled environment.

The scheme is being organised by Northamptonshire Sport with strict safety management from British Triathlon and The Royal Life Saving Society.

In the first event of its kind for the county, trials are open to swimming clubs, before public sessions start in June 2019.

At least two qualified lifeguards, session leaders and two spotters will supervise sessions to make them as safe as possible for swimmers.

The initiative is being launched with a swimming festival where participants can get expert coaching to ensure they swim safely with a positive introduction to the sport.

Following the festival, a summer-long series of swimming sessions are planned and will be open to all.

County Council deputy leader and cabinet member for public health and wellbeing, Cllr Cecile Irving-Swift said: "There are very few venues for open water swimming locally and the clean waters of Sywell Country Park provide an ideal venue for this to happen in a safe and controlled way.

"It is just the kind of sustainable programme we like to support as part of our legacy at the park and we work with clubs and groups across the county as part of our ongoing mission to get people active in Northants.

"I would emphasise that this permission is for managed open water swimming under strictly controlled circumstances and does not open the park up for swimming outside of scheduled events."

Director of Northamptonshire Sport, Chris Holmes said: "Open water swimming is a great way to explore the outdoors from a totally different perspective, it's freedom, adventure and fun all rolled together.

"As well as those chasing an adrenaline rush, outdoor swimming is also luring existing swimmers looking for something different, often after growing bored of their regular swimming pool experience.

"While you'll need to be a competent swimmer, you don't have to be a superstar to take on open water – it's a fairly simple transition from the pool."

Don't take shortcuts as the darker nights draw in Northamptonshire Police is issuing safety advice to the public as the days get shorter and the nights get darker. Crime Prevention Team Leader, Paul Golley said: "Darkness really is a criminal's best friend and I would strongly encourage the public to arm themselves with the safety tips below in order to best prevent themselves from becoming a victim of crime during the darker nights.

"I know we all want to get to our destinations quickly when the nights are dark and the weather is cold, but please think twice about taking that shortcut and consider that adding an extra five minutes onto your journey time and staying in well-lit, busy areas may just be worth it to avoid opportunistic criminals waiting in more isolated areas.

"I'd also like to take this opportunity to say that it's a common misconception that women are the only ones that need to take extra care during the winter months. That is simply not the case. Men are also susceptible to being attacked and should also take a look at our safety tips."

- Plan ahead before you go out. Know where you're going, how you'll get there, and how you'll get back. Let someone know where you're going, and be prepared for a change of plan. Keep your purse or wallet and keys close and secure. Only take out essential items, and if you can leave valuables at home, do.
- When you're out, always walk with purpose, and stick to well-lit, busy areas, using the route you know best.

- Don't be tempted to take shortcuts that require you to stray from busy areas.
- Avoid quiet or badly-lit alleyways, subways or isolated car parks. Walk down the middle of the pavement if the street is deserted.
- Remain aware of your surroundings – don't walk along texting, making a phone call or listening to music. As well as being distracting, this advertises your valuable to criminals.
- Be a good friend and stay safe by sticking together. Encourage each other to avoid walking alone at night.
- If you regularly walk home in the dark, get a personal attack alarm approved by Sold Secure – they are widely available and inexpensive.

Oundle Festival of Literature is pleased to present: Adam Hart Davis – Very Heath Robinson

Wednesday 5th December at 7.45pm at St Peter's Church, North Street, Oundle.

This new book takes a nostalgic look at the imaginative world of William Heath Robinson, one of the few artists to have given his name to the English language. According to the Oxford English Dictionary, the expression Heath Robinson is used to describe 'any absurdly ingenious and impracticable device'. You will find plenty of them here. Very Heath Robinson is full of quirky contraptions for lighting cigars, making coffee, extinguishing candles and generally making everyday life easy. You can even mow the lawn in comfort thanks to the super deluxe Ransomes' motor mower, complete with wireless, drinks cabinet and tiffin table.

A dozen collections of Heath Robinson's work have been published over the last 80 years, starting in his lifetime, but most have been compilations of pictures with minimal text. Very Heath Robinson is the first to explain the technical and social background out of which the pictures grew and to weave art and history into a connected story. It portrays Heath Robinson as the visionary he was, foreseeing technical advances decades before they occurred and commenting wryly on urban issues such as traffic jams, litter and flat living that regularly niggle us today.

Adam Hart-Davis is the perfect person to set the artist's mechanical fantasies in context, to tell the stories of rapid technological and social change that lay behind Heath Robinson's idiosyncratic brand of satire and to laugh along with the jokes. He has even built his own Heath Robinson-style machine.

Adam is a scientist, author, photographer, historian and broadcaster, well known in the UK for presenting the BBC television series Local Heroes and What the Romans Did for Us, the latter spawning several spin-off series involving the Victorians, the Tudors, the Stuarts and the Ancients. He was also a co-presenter of Tomorrow's World, and presented Science Shack.

Tickets £8 (£6), £1 off early bird tickets bought before 28th November, available from the Oundle Box Office, 4 New Street, Oundle. Open hours: 10am-4pm, Monday to Friday: Tel 01832 274734, online at www.oundlefestival.org.uk. Any queries call Helen on 07743988181 or email oundlelitfestival@hotmail.co.uk

Wildlife News

The little CCTV camera in our garden was put there to find what animal life comes with the hours of darkness, but when recording time inevitably runs into daylight hours it also pictures what goes on when we are not watching. That extra trip into the garden world may not always be quite what we hope for, but reminds us that everyday happenings make or spoil its value for all. That became clear when the daily inspections proved that visits from magpies were increasing; up to six at once is quite a crowd for a small plot. They obviously like the food we provide, but their reputation is rather shady.

This is one of the easiest birds to identify; the 'pie' in the name comes from the black-and-white plumage of this large bird, and the long tail makes up much of the shape we see outlined against the sky; allied with the harsh "chack-chack" call it is almost impossible to mistake it for anything else. But although it is a common feature of our countryside (and now gardens) its habits do not endear it to many naturalists, and feeding is a major factor. If it was mainly clearing up the remains of dead animals, which would be unpleasant and could harbour disease, we would all be thankful. Unfortunately we find that at some times in the year it likes fresher food, like eggs unprotected by sitting parents, and even worse when nestlings become the 'meal of the day'. Other film shows that they can be quite aggressive against other birds, both their own species and other visitors, even when there is plenty of food to go round.

Because magpies have been part of the country scene for so long they take their place in local folklore, especially about the numbers seen at one time, but the words are not always the same, so what you remember may depend on where you grew up. One example starts "one for sorrow, two for joy, three for a girl and four for a boy" but other versions are available; I wonder what reply covers the six outside our window a couple of days ago!

Council supports youth counselling & mentoring

Oundle Town Council has awarded a Community Support grant to CHAT Youth Counselling, enabling access to mental health support for young people. The grant has been welcomed by the staff, as it has helped provide further training for the Counsellor and Therapeutic Mentor in play therapy. Mayor Gerry Hutton made the presentation to the CHAT Chair of Trustees, Mrs Christine Marsters and Manager and Therapeutic Mentor, Denise Slater, in the presence of other councillors and trustees. Therapeutic mentoring is a recent extension to the CHAT Youth Counselling service for young people in East Northamptonshire area, offering structured, one-to-one, strength-based support for the purpose of addressing communication, relationship and social needs.

Oundle Town Council was instrumental in the establishment of CHAT as a charity in 1997. The Council has continued to offer financial assistance throughout this time, as more and more young people are struggling with mental health issues. Many local young people's wellbeing and mental health have improved as a result. CHAT's qualified counsellors provide their clients with free confidential help and advice with time to be listened to. Support can be accessed through local schools or by contacting info@chatyouthcounselling.org.uk or on 01832 274422.

Rules for business growth

Many a company's inability to adapt to the Internet has been the blame for their downfall. But how realistic is it that online shopping could be the culprit? Following a recent project with an online wine retailer, research indicates that 50% of consumers buy online, however of that, 43% also buy offline, so what does this tell us?

In this highly competitive world where we are prompted to purchase products multiple times throughout the day, sometimes the most convenient option is also the closest option. Although promoted as a timesaver, online shopping still requires a thought process and a convenient delivery slot. So if the Internet is not the sole reason for a company's collapse, what other factors could be involved?

In his book, How Brands Grow, Byron Sharpe makes several observations to help companies achieve success. He states that customer defection rates for companies with a small market share will be higher than for companies with a large market share. Something many business managers might assume is to do with customer loyalty or ineffective sales people. Sharpe goes on to say that all companies suffer around 50% customer defection, therefore there is a much greater opportunity to increase market share by picking up competitors' customers, than if you only focus on loyalty.

Take the business manager who thinks it's a sales issue. They go out and find a sales trainer and spend the next year wondering why profits are not rising. Little did they know that increasing sales by 1% would only provide 3.3% more profit? If instead they had looked at reducing variable costs, by 1%, they would have made 6.5% more profit. But it is increasing the selling price that provides the greatest profitability – with 1% increase comes 10.3% more profit.

Discounting however is the number one killer of profitability. Reduce the price by just 10%, and you need to make 50% more sales to achieve the same amount of money. So, the next time you go searching for bargains, please remember the loss of some of our most loved retailers and the impact that prices have on a business' success or failure.

As a marketing strategist and brand builder, I use research and analysis as a starting point to building business success.

East Northants Snooker League

Week 4 of the ENSL Winter League, sponsored by Belgian Pete's Home Improvements, and we are now beginning to see some serious movement in the league table and some distance being put between the top and bottom teams.

Windmill D hosted Windmill Warriors this week. The Warriors have not been living up to their name based on recent results and this week was no different. Justin White and Michael Dicks battled it out to win a frame each. Windmill D's Paul Whyte and Richard Wright had an extremely close game, with both of their frames coming down to the final black. Richard cleared up to win the first frame and he did the same in the next frame, potting what he thought was the winning black until, sadly, the cue ball rolled into the pocket, meaning that Paul won the frame by default. With the match at 2-2 it was over to Paul Lewis and Aaron Whittemore. Aaron played better on the night to win both frames and give Windmill D a 4-2 victory boosting them up to 2nd place in the league table.

The top team Coopers A played against neighbouring team Coopers Troopers. Steve Biggs and Dean Coombes had a close game, with Dean taking the first, thanks to a 25 break and Steve winning the second by keeping Dean out of the balls. Colin Hinds then stepped up for Coopers A against his opponent Sean Britchford. Sean did not know what had hit him as Colin was potting balls off the lampshades as he promptly won both of his frames. The two team captains Justin Gaggini and Roger Hayes-Roome then went head to head. It was a close game with both fellas playing well, but Justin showed his grit as he managed to win both. A massive 5-1 win for Coopers A meaning that the leaders now go 4 points clear.

We welcome a new sponsor onboard this week in the form of Rowan Groundworks Ltd. They have agreed to sponsor the Player Statistics Trophy which everyone will be vying for. Martyn Hatton is currently out in front with his 88% win-rate.

This week's results:
Windmill D 4-2 Windmill Warriors
Coopers Ball Bashers 4-2 Windmill Underdogs
Coopers A 5-1 Coopers Troopers
Windmill C 3-3 Windmill B
