In Brief

Huxlow Science College commemorates the Centenary of the First World War

On Friday 9th November, all students at Huxlow Science College commemorated the Centenary of the First World War. Year 7 created poppies with the DT department, whilst Years 8-9 researched the war and created factsheets and monologues. Year 10 debated the impacts of the war and Year 11 had a question and answer session with Peter Bone MP. The whole school then joined together to listen to readings and the Last Post, followed by a two-minute silence.

Classic fairy tale gets a rustic re-telling

This Christmas, beasts and beauties of all ages are invited to enjoy a tale where beastliness is only skin deep as Beauty And The Beast comes to The Core at Corby Cube from Friday 7th to Sunday 30th December.

New International Encounter create a rustic re-telling of the French classic fairy tale that is full of live music, fun and magic, and comes direct from a three-week run at New York's New Victory Theater.

Deep in the overgrown forest lies a mysterious, ruined castle with a very unusual inhabitant who lives under a terrible curse. In a farmhouse on the edge of town lives a family of three remarkable daughters and their weary father who struggles to make ends meet. Who will dare to go into the forest and what will they find? What is love and can it change our lives?

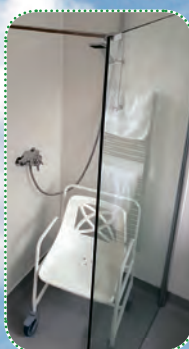

The show features a daring heroine and a beast with impeccable table manners, and has played to over 22,000 people in Cambridge and Bristol with rave reviews and packed houses.

Commenting on the show, Artistic Director of NIE and Director of Beauty And The Beast, Alex Byrne said: "This is a timeless story about how love changes people and we couldn't be more excited to be bringing that message to Corby audiences this Christmas."

With a running time of 1 hour and 50 minutes (including an interval), Beauty And The Beast is recommended for ages 5 and above. The show can be seen at The Core from Friday 7th to Sunday 30th December. Tickets are priced between £11 and £19.50, with schools tickets at £9. Concessions are available on all public performances.

A transaction fee of £1 applies to telephone and website bookings of £15 and over only. Does not apply in person, or to groups, and is per-transaction, not per-ticket.

Letters to the editor

Dear editor,
East Northants District Council (ENC), our local planning authority, have reacted with commendable speed to the government's imposition of a 2-Unitary Authority structure in Northamptonshire by writing a draft, District-wide, Local Plan which will be out for consultation by mid-November.

Unfortunately for the people of Oundle, that Plan seeks to impose housing development that is counter to their wishes.

The Town Council's long-overdue but emerging Neighbourhood Plan, the result of due consultation with the townsfolk, calls for seven sites to be dispersed around the town, embracing the allocated total of just over 300 houses.

The draft Local Plan is constructed around three sites and, it appears, will result in a significantly greater number of properties. ENC have been kept aware of the content of the Neighbourhood Plan but choose to ignore it.

For democracy to prevail, the people of Oundle need to respond to ENC's consultation process with a firm voice!

*Tony Robinson
Oundle Resident*

Genealogy jottings

I mentioned using the computer last time and, if you are looking at actual documents on the internet, a subscription can save you a lot of time and money in the long run. My family mainly come from the bottom right-hand corner of England in a swathe from Surrey and Sussex, through Kent and up to Essex, Cambridgeshire and Suffolk. When I lived in Hertfordshire, all were within a decent distance to travel for a day out at the Archives, or the villages and towns where they lived. A wander round the local churchyard or cemetery can also be most interesting. However, I am grateful to various websites for providing some information about my Irish ancestors, but a trip across the water is still going to be needed!

One thing that I do like about using the various websites for research is that you can quite often come across early parish records – scans of the originals, not just transcriptions. I was researching a tree for someone recently and was really pleased to find an image of their 4 x great grandparents' marriage in the parish records of the 1790s. It had the original writing that showed that both the bride and groom had marked with an X instead of their signatures. However, later documents showed that the bride could in fact sign her name. I wonder if she learnt to read and write or if she was just kidding on the marriage register so as not to 'show up' her new husband if he was illiterate. Perhaps we will never know...

Wherever possible, do look at the original entries, whether on the computer or at the Records Office/Archives. Transcriptions are wonderful and are very helpful but they are written by humans, who can make mistakes. The letters 'S' and 'L' can look very similar as I discovered when searching for Ludbrooke. I found a stack more that had been transcribed as Sudbrooke!

Editor's notes

Across the District, the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War saw thousands attending various events. We would like to register the gratitude of local communities to all the volunteers who contributed to making those events such a success – thank you.

It appears that a significant chunk of the savings proposed at Northants County Council will not be realised. A report going before the Council's Cabinet in the coming days indicates that over £12m of the savings proposed recently to help balance the books cannot be made and that a further sum of over £2.5m is in jeopardy. These figures need to be set against the overall in-year deficit of more than £53m this financial year as well as a £35m overspend from the previous year. It's not yet clear why the savings can't be taken, but the areas most affected appear to be adult social care and the children's department, perhaps the two most vulnerable elements of society. With the change to 2 Unitary Authorities due in spring 2020, the concern from councils lower down the pecking order is that they will inherit at least part of the county's deficit and will need to begin their tenures with cost-saving measures.

The letter opposite from an Oundle resident serves to highlight the consultation period, which began on 5th November, available for District residents to submit their feedback to ENC on the Local Plan. ENC are at pains to stress that their development plan will enable the Council to determine the appropriateness of planning applications and support their strategic policies. The Plan also aims to set out the vision for the future, building on the proposals in the North Northamptonshire Joint Core Strategy 2011-31.

ENC want to add local value through their policies, particularly by supporting the growth of business opportunities, ensuring the District's market towns thrive and remain competitive; they want to do this by encouraging town centre regeneration schemes. It's easy to point to a conflict here with the establishment of the out-of-town shopping centre at Rushden Lakes. The plan also seeks to support rural communities, ensuring they have the ability to meet local needs and have opportunities to improve local connections, create local employment prospects and develop tourism opportunities.

ENC Leader Steven North said: "We value our resident's feedback and I would encourage the community to have their say on the future of our District." While this is an entirely laudable sentiment, it seems that the good people of Oundle at least have concerns that their voice is not being heard. To view the consultation documents, visit www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/localplan2; you have until Monday 17th December to comment.

Pop-up restaurant in Oundle

An exciting recent addition to Oundle's neighbourhood dining scene, pop-up restaurant Ora Cultro has now launched a regular Saturday fine dining evening in the town.

The concept was launched in March by Oundle chef Chris Huggett in a bid to bring an exciting new fine dining experience to the town. Initially a pop-up restaurant providing six-course taster menus at different venues once a month, Ora Cultro is now open every Saturday evening with an exciting new menu – and a new home.

'The Hub' café at Fletton House, off Glapthorn Road, is now transformed into a fine-dining restaurant every Saturday evening as the new venue for Ora Cultro.

Chris said: "The initial concept behind Ora Cultro was to provide a different dining experience for people in Oundle and the surrounding area to what is already available in the town, and one that would evolve as time goes on. Hopefully we are already starting to do just that with our new venue and Saturday evening menu."

Using locally-sourced produce where possible, Ora Cultro aims to offer a feast of fresh ingredients and bold flavours with menus prepared by chef Chris, formerly of the well-renowned Olive Branch at Clipsham.

Chris, who is also a chef at The Chubby Castor, which achieved a place in the Michelin Guide within just a few months of opening, explained: "We are going to continue to hold the six-course taster events once a month, but run a more restaurant-style menu on the other Saturday evenings."

Dishes on offer include mouth-watering starters such as wild boar tortelloni in a wild mushroom sauce, pan-fried scallops with parma ham and a parsley foam, delicious main courses including Chris's signature crab lasagne, and divine desserts such as salted caramel and chocolate tart with black cherry ice-cream.

Two six-course events are planned for between now and the end of the year. The first upcoming taster event is a joint venture with Oundle-based Amps Wine Merchants on Saturday 24th November. The menu is very much about autumn flavours with culinary delights such as venison with quince and chestnuts – and features wines specifically chosen to complement each course by Philip Amps.

A Victorian-themed Christmas banquet will be the final taster event of the year, and is to be held at Ora Cultro on Thursday 20th December.

Chris said: "We have tried to do something a bit different for our Christmas event and taken inspiration from Victorian menus."

The festive fare will include a creative take on the traditional 'mince pie' with an appetiser of game encrusted in sweet shortcrust pastry, a mock-turtle soup, as well as a whole suckling pig for the main course.

Chris added: "The taster menu will both start and end with a course which combines sweet and savoury – the mince pie as an appetiser and a port and Stilton cheese truffle at the end. It is a flavour combination which does work!"

Oundle Town Council

HO, HO, HO it's that time of year again! The beautiful historic town of Oundle will be holding its annual Christmas Market on Saturday 1st December from 12noon to 7pm.

The afternoon/evening will be full of Christmas cheer, with an array of stalls to cater for all your Christmas gift needs:

Struggling to come up with a Christmas

'Wishing wi smiles and spirits high. Clad christmass and a happy year.' John Clare

Already it's here! The season of celebration and giving of gifts. The fires are lit and the Christmas lights will soon be twinkling once more.

This year Irthlingborough artist Jamie Poole has created a new calendar showing local scenes of the Nene Valley, with twelve beautiful prints inside to mark each month. Inspired by the Northamptonshire poet John Clare, Jamie makes artwork using his poetry which can be read in the landscapes depicted.

The artist will have a stall at Oundle Christmas Market on 1st December, where he will be selling his calendar along with Christmas cards and signed prints. Take a Christmas selfie at his stall and post it on Instagram @jpooleartist for a chance to win a signed print. Visit www.jamie-poole.com to learn more.

Colemans

If you are looking for lovely, traditional Christmas gifts for your family this year, then look no further than Colemans, who have been trading across the county for nearly 50 years. Their shops are an Aladdin's cave of all things Christmassy – from beautiful pens and leather Filofaxes to traditional jigsaws, children's craft kits and sets for serious artists.

As well as wonderful products, they also offer excellent customer service and are always happy to help and advise. There is even a free delivery service, so if you are unable to carry your shopping home, don't worry – Colemans will deliver! Colemans also sell gift vouchers to any value, which can be exchanged in any of their stores, so if you really can't decide, they have that covered too!

In addition to the 10 retail shops, there is also the Colemans Craft Warehouse at Rushden which is open seven days a week (closed Mondays). This 5,500 square foot warehouse caters for everything a crafter could need, from cardmaking to scrapbooking, patchwork and quilting to parchment craft and decoupage.

From the Chairman

‘Celebration’ has been the theme these past two weeks, first at a Choral Evensong in celebration of Northamptonshire on the Feastday of Saints Crispin and Crispinian in the presence of Her Majesty’s Lord Lieutenant of Northamptonshire and the Master of the Leathersellers’ Company of the City of London.

At a reception after the service, we were introduced to the Lord Lieutenant’s cadets, both those who have assisted him this past year and those new to the role. Each cadet introduced themselves and were a credit to the organisations they represent.

Secondly, together with my consort David, we were guests at the Rushden

Royal Maritime Community Trafalgar Night Dinner. I did not know there was such a large maritime community in an area of the country furthest from the sea! For those who may not know, Trafalgar Night celebrates the victory won by the Royal Navy, commanded by Vice Admiral Horatio Nelson over the combined French and Spanish fleets at the Battle on 21st October 1805.

It was moving to attend the launch of the Poppy Appeal and join in a short service of Remembrance during which I met a young man from Thrapston who was spending his half term holiday helping with the appeal. Well done to him and to all those who volunteer. Your support is hugely appreciated.

Finally, I had the most difficult task I have undertaken as Chairman as I was asked to judge the Pumpkin Competition in Barnwell. With four different categories and some excellent entries it was extremely difficult to choose winners. Winner of the pumpkin competition went to Jessica McIntosh and her son, Finley, best display went to Tina Edgar, fancy dress was won by Sebastian Hernandez and Vegas the Bewitched Barnwell Lion-King with owner Katrin. Well done to all for taking part.

ENC Chairman,
Cllr Wendy Brackenbury

Rushden MVS – Exercise Brewer

After completing yet another successful exercise with Northamptonshire's Resilience Partnership, Andy Smith of Rushden Maritime Volunteer Service reflected on an exciting and varied year: "The unit is going from strength to strength but whilst playing a key part in the local water based search and rescue organisation it is now time to refocus on our maritime roots. We are looking to recruit more volunteers, not just to join our search teams, but for a whole host of different roles."

So if you have an interest in the maritime world, and a desire to serve our community, visit www.mvstrushden.com, to receive details of the next open event.

Local communities celebrate opening of new public facilities

Residents in Irthlingborough and Barnwell can now enjoy more opportunities to take part in physical activity and recreational play following the opening of new public facilities, after receiving support from East Northamptonshire Council's Community Facilities Fund project.

Families will be able to enjoy hours of fun at the brand new children's playground in Barnwell, within the garden of the Montagu Arms. The play area was officially opened by the Chairman of ENC, Cllr Wendy Brackenbury and Leader of ENC, Cllr Steven North with representatives from Barnwell Parish Council on Thursday 11th October. Barnwell Parish Council successfully secured funding from the Community Facilities Fund to deliver the brand new play area for local residents and visitors to enjoy.

A new outdoor gym opened at Irthlingborough Central Recreation Ground on Monday 15th October following Irthlingborough Town Council receiving funding from the Community Facilities Fund. Designed with inclusivity at its heart, the new equipment is accessible for all ages and abilities and provides residents with the opportunity to get active, no matter the weather. ENC's leisure partners, Freedom Leisure will be delivering free gym buddy sessions every Monday between 10am and 11am.

Leader of East Northamptonshire Council, Steven North, said: "The Community Facilities Fund provides local communities with the opportunity to benefit from improved public facilities and I was honoured to join Wendy, fellow councillors and other community leaders to open and see these projects first-hand. I hope that residents of Barnwell and Irthlingborough will enjoy their new facilities for years to come."

The Community Facilities Fund provides constituted community groups and organisations, town and parish councils in East Northamptonshire with funding up to £50,000. There must be a minimum of 25% match funding to be eligible to apply.

Applications are now closed. Please visit ENC's website and social media pages to keep up to date on future application rounds. For more information visit www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/cff

Police officers issue warning following handbag thefts

Police officers in Northamptonshire are issuing a warning to people across the county about a recent spate of handbag and purse thefts.

The incidents have taken place in Northampton, Kettering and Corby and have happened mostly in supermarkets with the criminals mainly targeting elderly women.

Paul Golley, Crime Prevention Team Leader, said: "It takes a real low-life to follow elderly people around a supermarket, waiting for the right moment to steal their handbag or purse.

"Unfortunately these people do exist and they often use distraction techniques to get what they want. This can involve bumping into victims – something that causes them to be flustered and unaware someone has stolen from them. Or it can involve working in pairs with one person distracting the victim while the other steals from them.

"It's worth making sure you read the tips below in order to best prevent yourself from becoming a victim and making sure any elderly people in your life are aware of these tips as well."

- Attach a bell to your handbag so you can hear if it is moved.
- Beware of pickpockets.

- Never hang your handbag on pushchairs or shopping trolleys.
- Keep your bag firmly closed and on your person at all times.
- Wear shoulder bags with the flap against your body.
- Avoid carrying large amounts of cash.
- Only keep items in your bag that you need for that occasion.
- Remember thieves can use cards to make contactless purchases.
- Do not store your pin number in your handbag or purse.
- If your purse is stolen, report the loss of your cards immediately to the card issuers.
- Protect your pin when withdrawing cash from an ATM.

Have your say on services provided by East Northamptonshire Council

Residents can now give their views on how they think the council is performing via the annual council survey.

It's an opportunity for residents to give their feedback on public services in the district and where they feel improvements could be made.

Leader of East Northamptonshire Council, Steven North, said: "With further reductions in external funding predicted for the next few years, views from across the district will help to shape services and how money is spent so we urge residents to take part in the survey so all views can be considered."

The short survey is available until 16th December 2018 on the council's website at www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/residentssurvey. Paper copies are also available at council offices and on request on 01832 742265.

For more information on this press release email communications@east-northamptonshire.gov.uk or call 01832 742217. Follow us on Twitter.

Find out more about rural policing with free message alert system

Northamptonshire Police is encouraging rural residents and business owners to sign up to a free messaging system to keep them up to date with crime and police activity in their local area.

Northamptonshire Neighbourhood Alert (formerly known as Community Connect) allows people to sign up for information tailored to where they live and work, as well as any specialist areas of interest such as farming, Countryside Watch and 4x4 vehicles.

The system allows frontline police officers to send messages direct from their mobile devices, sharing appeals for help, information about suspicious activity, crime prevention advice, events and more while out policing the county.

Neighbourhood Alert messages can be received by email, text message or voice message. People can also choose what they want to receive alerts about, and how often, and will only receive messages about topics they have selected.

Signing up is simple, quick and free, and the alert system is completely secure. To register visit www.northamptonshireneighbourhoodalert.co.uk.

Thrapston Library

Thrapston Library is presently open on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays between 10am and 6pm and is manned by an NCC Customer Advisor, with support from the Friends of Thrapston Library Volunteers. It is hoped in the future to open the Library on more suitable days for the town, which will be manned by volunteers, however while we are recruiting volunteers and training them and the future of the building is still under discussion, we are unable to make an announcement yet.

Thrapston Library will be open on Saturday 24th November between 2pm and 5.30pm, during the Thrapston Christmas Lights Switch-on event. Hot drinks, a cakes and preserves stall, plus an activity for the children will be available. Donations towards the cake and preserves stall would be most welcome and can be handed into the Library on Friday 23rd November. The public will be able to return and borrow books on the 24th but the public computers will not be available. The Friends Group will also be selling their Christmas Raffle Tickets, the proceeds of which will be used to support the Library in the future.

Anyone interested in becoming a Library Volunteer can pick up an application form from the Library.

Children enjoy spook-tacular party thanks to Raunds Town Council

More than 100 toddlers and school children gathered at Saxon Hall in Raunds for a spook-tacular Halloween party that included games, dancing and a fancy dress competition.

The event, organised by Raunds Town Council, has been running for three years now and the children have a great time dressing up – some of the parents joined in too!

There was a Halloween 'Best Dressed' competition and The Mayor, Cllr Richard Level presented the prizes to Jude Beevor and Ettie York for their fabulous costumes. Cllr Helen Howell, Chair of Events said: "We are delighted that the event continues to be a success, our events committee and staff work very hard to put on events like this and others for the town, it is really important to bring the community together."

Amie Cox (parent) said: "Massive thank you to Raunds Town Council!!! The kids' Halloween party was fantastic! Lots of hard work must have gone into that so thank you from us!"

We look forward to seeing you again next year!

Creative comic book workshop for Huxlow students

On Wednesday 7th November, students from Huxlow Science College were delighted to receive their own professionally printed copies of a comic book they created. Engaging Education offer award-winning, creative, project-based learning opportunities and Huxlow was delighted to welcome them to run a three-part comic book workshop for selected Year 9 students, focusing on literacy.

"I'm really happy with the book we've created. My piranha character came out really well," said Esme.

"They made my drawings look great. I enjoyed making it because I like being creative," added Lacey.

Commitment to improve following Ofsted feedback

A far reaching programme of improvements will be launched by Northamptonshire County Council following critical feedback from Ofsted regarding children's services in the county.

Cabinet member for Children, Families and Education, Cllr Victoria Perry, has committed to working alongside the council's new leadership team to rise to the challenges outlined in Ofsted's focused inspection.

Cllr Perry said: "We know that our children's services are not working well and we will put this right. It is clear from the findings from Ofsted that these failures in the system have taken place over the last two years and we are now completely focused on recovering from these failures.

"We are pleased the inspectors recognise the new senior leadership team in place at the council has begun to tackle the weaknesses in the service which have arisen since 2016. The issues had started to be identified prior to Ofsted's focused inspection.

"While we will need to focus on improvements in safeguarding it is also equally critical we do far better in early help and prevention."

The findings of Ofsted follow something called a 'focused inspection' which took place on 17th-18th October. These are smaller scale than full inspections and focus on a particular part of the service.

This year the focused inspection looked specifically at the arrangements for managing contacts and referrals into the multi-agency safeguarding hub (MASH).

Service of Remembrance in Higham Ferrers

Almost 1,000 people congregated on the Market Square. On the eleventh day of the eleventh month at 11am we remembered all those who had lost their lives during both World Wars. The tree near to the Town Hall was decorated with poppies which had been knitted, sewn, made of plastic bottles and tins, and came from individuals, schools, groups and care homes. A big thank you must go to all concerned. We also had 'The Poppy Man' sitting on the seat outside the Town Hall for the second year.

Wreaths were laid by various Regiments, groups, schools and organisations including one on behalf of the town's Bedesmen. Mick Beesley laid this as he has now retired from the position as Prior and Stuart Wilby has taken over. On this special day it was wonderful to see 11 of the 12 Bedesmen and the Bedeswoman on parade. The Bedesmen are part of the town's history and they are very honoured to be recognised by their grey cloaks. On this occasion some took part in the service in other ways. David Hudson was taking the Service, David Wicks was Mayor's Sergeant, Chris O'Rourke was Deputy Mayor and Colin Jilks laid a wreath on behalf of the British Legion. The Bedesmen were also pleased to welcome Pete Austin as the newest Bedesman on his first official engagement.

The next function for the Bedesmen will be on Friday 21st December (known as Bedesman's Day) when you would be very welcome to come along to the Market Square and see them parade, with the Mayor, the Deputy Lord Lieutenant and Town Clerk at 11am, to the Church for a short service.

Yes we all felt very proud of Higham Ferrers, its civic traditions and hope they continue.

New Altar Cross for Oundle School Chapel

A new Altar Cross has been dedicated to the Chapel at Oundle School, commemorating the end of the Great War.

Replacing one which was lost many years ago, the brass cross, with an enamelled silver poppy in its centre, was commissioned by Old Oundelian Harry Williamson (St A, 55), as a gift to the Chapel.

The Reverend Brian Cunningham, the Senior Chaplain, together with his predecessor The Reverend Ian Browne chose the cross from a selection designed by Anthony Elson, a well-known silversmith and designer.

The poppy in the centre of the Cross acknowledges the dedication of the Chapel as a Memorial to the 263 former Oundle pupils and staff who fell in the First World War.

The cross can be viewed during chapel services or by arrangement with the Senior Chaplain.

Restart a Heart

Over 225 Rushden Academy students from years 7-11 were given the opportunity to learn the basics of CPR and how to use an automated external defibrillator (AED) on Tuesday 16th October, thanks to volunteers from the East Midlands

Ambulance service and Rushden members of Northamptonshire Fire and Rescue, who spent the day at the Academy as part of the British Heart Foundation's 'Restart A Heart' day. During the half-hour sessions, the students practised techniques on resuscitation dummies, learning how to administer both hands-only CPR and included rescue breaths (mouth-to-mouth) safely as a part of the charity's drive to reduce the number of deaths from cardiac arrests. For more information visit www.bhf.org.uk

Rushden's first Steampunk Festival

Rushden's first Steampunk Festival took place on Saturday 27th October at Rushden Goods Shed. The event was organised by Rushden Historical Transport Society in conjunction with the Eloise steampunk group. Entertainment was provided throughout the day by the Society's own George Holmes, a very entertaining steampunk ukelele group and in the evening by rock group Deep Sea Mountain. The Goods Shed also provided a great venue for the steampunk trade market with over 15 traders specialising in hats, clothing and accessories associated with the steampunk scene. There was also the opportunity to participate in teacup racing and tea duelling, as well as admiring the different costumes of the visitors to the event.

Wildlife News

The autumn colour show in hedges and fields is almost over, and if the autumn gales do their job of stripping the remaining leaves we will be left with the skeletons of trunks and branches to see us through the winter.

Things may look dead and dull, but many of those plants are not dying but slowing down, 'getting their breath back' for next spring, but the important end product has been appearing in the past few weeks – the seeds for next year's crop or for developing new colonies. Some will have already spread, perhaps by winds or by getting caught on passing mammals, and sometimes look like a piece of fur; others, however, will need different help to spread, but they can offer a little colour in the dullness.

'Hips and haws' is often used to describe the range of red berry-like fruits of various plants which feature in autumn, but the most striking, and easiest to see in the dark thickets, were the hips of the dog rose; larger and more colourful, their job to attract birds to eat them, spreading the seeds over a wider area.

Even hips are small compared to fruit from some trees, and the oak (of which there are several kinds) is a typical example, noted for strength and rot resistance which made it a good choice for shipbuilding. So two or three hundred years ago considerable areas were planted as oak forests; although times have changed there are still areas in our own county which are important in the country scene, with oaks providing ideal living conditions for a large number of animals and plants. Most tree seeds are not colourful, and shape (like acorns) is better help for identification; any large specimen nearby may have been there for literally hundreds of years. The distinctive and recognisable leaves may blow away, but those acorns give the game away when you are looking for what is around – that is, unless something else (but not you) has found an enjoyable snack.

Rural crime crackdown

Arrests, warrants, vehicle seizures and farm visits were just some of the activities carried out by Northamptonshire Police during a day of action tackling rural crime.

Co-ordinated by the National Police Chiefs' Council, the event took place on Thursday 8th November, with officers in Northamptonshire carrying out operations targeting everything from hare coursing and organised crime to fly-tipping and the theft of machinery.

Partnership work was undertaken with local councils, organisations representing rural residents, landowners and businesses, Northamptonshire Fire and Rescue Service, and neighbouring police forces.

Inspector Kevin Byrne, Neighbourhood Policing Team Inspector for Daventry and South Northants, said: "As a largely rural county, we appreciate how much rural crime affects Northamptonshire. The day of action was a huge team effort from all those involved across the force and our partners, and I'm really pleased with the results.

"Alongside our proactive policing, we worked with partners to carry out visits to farms and businesses around the county providing reassurance and advice, listening to their concerns and really showing them that we're out there, we're interested in rural crime and we take it seriously."

PC John Hutchings took part in a cross-county series of driver and vehicle checks with partners including Leicestershire Police and the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency (DVSA).

He said: "We have been stopping vehicles in Thrapston, Oundle, Rushden, and Moulton, carrying out checks resulting in three arrests. We also had drivers reported for 35 offences, 10 seized vehicles and gathered a lot of intelligence in the fight against rural crime.

"Our DVSA colleagues also issued 32 immediate prohibitions, taking unsafe vehicles off the roads. Working together we've realised our goal of targeting those who use the roads to commit rural crime, and made sure those using rural roads are doing so legally and safely."

Inspector Byrne added his thanks for the patience of drivers affected by the police operations.

As well as providing crime prevention advice during visits to rural residents and businesses, police also handed out 'pull me over at night' stickers to help protect trailers, equipment and machinery against theft.

Anti-fly-tipping operations were led by Daventry District Council and South Northamptonshire Council.

Gary Crook, Lead Community Safety Officer for South Northamptonshire Council, said rural crime affected residents on a regular basis, and combatting it formed part of the area's community safety action plan as a result.

He added: "Our Community Safety Officer carried out fly-tipping patrols in known vulnerable areas to offer support and advice to residents and the farming community, reporting back any suspicious activity to police control. Our Environmental Enforcement Officers also targeted hot-spots for fly-tipping throughout the day."

Another partner in the day's activity was the CLA, which represents owners of land, property and businesses in rural England and Wales.

CLA East Regional Director, Ben Underwood said: "Those living in rural, and often isolated locations, can feel particularly vulnerable to being a victim of crime. This national day of action will hopefully raise awareness of the seriousness of the issue and the impact it has on those who live and work in the countryside."

During the day, one female was safeguarded following a misuse of drugs warrant in Rothwell, reassurance visits were made to county farms and plans discussed for a heritage crime seminar.

Councillor Alan Hills, Community, Culture and Leisure Portfolio Holder who represents Daventry District Council for the Community Safety Partnership said:

"Daventry is a largely rural district and the majority of the crime takes place in the rural parts of the area.

"We were very happy to be working in partnership with Northamptonshire Police on this day of action, but would reassure people that this will not be the only day of the year when rural crime is in our sights."

Arrest details from the rural crime day of action:

- A 53-year-old man and 28 year old man were arrested on suspicion of the theft of plant machinery
- Two males aged 36 and 37 were arrested for illegal entry into the UK and are being dealt with by immigration services
- A 26-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of driving while under the influence of drugs and driving while disqualified
