Long serving Royal British Legion member recognised

Members of the Royal British Legion Rushden Branch recently witnessed a special presentation made to their fellow member Mrs Julie West. She was presented an RBL Rose Gold Pin and a Branch Certificate of Appreciation for her conspicuous service to the RBL, by Branch Chairman Paul Mills, to mark an incredible 65 years of selling poppies.

Julie was born to Gladys and Grenadier Guards Sergeant Donald Folder on 28th February 1938. She was the eldest daughter and her younger sister Jill was born just after their father was killed in France in 1944 during WW2; he is buried at Saint Charles De Percy cemetery which Julie has visited several times. Julie's mother was also a member of the Royal British Legion until she died.

In 1953, when Julie was just 15 years old, she started work and not long afterwards a colleague asked her if she would be interested in being a Poppy Seller; she accepted, joined the Legion and has been a member and sold poppies every year since. Julie turned 80 years of age in February 2018. At one stage she held the position of being the poppy coordinator, where in those days one had to assemble the poppies before you could sell them.

Over the years Julie has knocked on doors and stood on street corners in all weathers selling the poppies, but now she sits in a local supermarket for 10 days during Remembrance fortnight selling them. On the final days she collects the boxes from the High Street shops and helps with the counting; she also willingly hands out the order of service sheets and assists with bucket collecting on Remembrance Sundays. She is a stalwart member of the Royal British Legion. Her daughters and granddaughters who are also RBL members and friends all join in poppy selling each year.

This most popular character, known locally as the 'Poppy Lady', has been and continues to be a most loyal Royal British Legion member and intends selling poppies for many years to come. She has been rightfully recognised for her 65 plus years of dedication by an additional award of Lifetime Branch Membership.

Laundry Tales – It'll all come out in the wash

From the time it was built in 1935 to its demolition in recent years, the chimney of the Co-op Laundry on Crow Hill in Irthlingborough had been a landmark for motorists approaching the town from the Raunds and Higham Ferrers directions. Whether coming home from a day trip to the seaside or from a holiday, eager eyes would search for the chimney, and once spotted would accept that their excursion was coming to an end.

In its heyday, when washing would be fetched from airfields throughout the Midland counties, from Butlin's Holiday Camps, local boarding schools as well as from private residents, the Co-op Laundry employed up to 300 workers at any one time.

One man who spent the majority of his working life at the Laundry was the late Barry Postle, a member of Irthlingborough Historical Society. When Barry died in 2018 he left behind a wonderful archive of memories of his 45 years at the Laundry.

These memories have now been published by the Historical Society under the title 'Laundry Tales – It'll all come out in the wash' and will bring back many, many memories for anyone who worked at the Laundry and will be a wonderful read for anyone who didn't, as Barry's reminiscences include workers and incidents not only in Irthlingborough, but when collecting and delivering laundry in the surrounding villages, Bedford and Stevenage and even as far away as Minehead in Somerset.

Irthlingborough Co-op Laundry and its chimney have now gone and have been replaced by a housing development appropriately named Chimney Close but thanks to this superb collection of memories, the life and times of the Laundry in its heyday will remain for a long time to come.

Genealogy jottings

Did your ancestors have a particular trade? One of mine was a clog-maker in Hastings. I took some time out to research exactly what this involved and it really was quite an intricate trade!

You may come across occupations that you have never heard of before such as Tixter (another name for a weaver), Dorcas (a seamstress) or Molitor (Miller). Investigating these occupations will certainly add interest to what might otherwise just be a list of names and dates.

It might be worthwhile putting an ancestor's name into your computer search engine and seeing what pops up. However, beware of John Smith! I have a few of those and so also add their place of birth into the search bar! It helps if they have less common names. One of mine was named Happy Sabina Bailey. If you put that name into a search engine with quotation marks at the beginning and end of the name, she will pop up. Oh yes – if you don't put quotes at the beginning and end of the name, you will find lots of people called Sabina Bailey who are happy... This reminds me – are you aware of the different commands that you can use with Google search? The tilde sign (~) results in searches that include synonyms so ~genealogy will not only bring up genealogy sites but also those with ancestry, family tree etc in their name. But a really useful one to use is *. If you are not sure of a spelling, such as Stewart or Steward, pop the search in as Stewar*. As spelling did not settle down until as late as the beginning of the 20th century, many people wrote what they heard. I usually look for my maiden name of Milsted under Mil*sted and Milste*d so as to cover Milsted as well as Milstead. Have a rummage – and good luck!

By Jan Pearson
Genealogy Specialists, Tracing Our Past, Discovering Our Genes (TOP DOG) www.genealogy-specialists.com

Editor's notes

On 23rd January, Northamptonshire County Council's Library service began a consultation on the remaining eight libraries which feature in their long-term plans. Across the county, libraries being considered are: Abington; Duston; Far Cotton; Finedon; Higham Ferrers; Irchester; Long Buckby and St James.

It's proposed that these will be community managed and non-statutory, apart from Duston which will remain under County Council management.

Councillor Cecile Irving-Swift, who has responsibility for the Library Service, said: "At the heart of this proposal is the fact that we've worked with some wonderful community groups who, like us at the County Council, clearly have a passion for books – we need people to have their say on what they think of these plans."

The consultation will run for just over eight weeks until 22nd March, with public engagement events at all the libraries except Duston. Consultation on the first 28 libraries closes on 8th February, so there will be a two-week overlap with the final eight so that people can consider all 36 proposals.

Following the recent resignation of Councillor Heather Smith, Northamptonshire County Council (NCC) has announced plans for a by-election to fill the vacant seat in the Oundle Division. The by-election will be held on 21st February. The first declaration is a student from Kings Cliffe, Harry James (24), who has been selected as the Labour candidate. Harry is hoping to cut his political teeth in Oundle after several years helping Labour fight campaigns on doorsteps.

Harry has said that he believes former Ward Councillor Heather Smith, who resigned as NCC leader after an extremely difficult stage in the county's political history, was given a raw deal by the County's Conservative MPs: "She was thrown under the bus," said Harry.

The Liberal Democrats and the Conservative party have not yet formally announced the names of their candidates.

East Northants Council are extending the period available for consultation on their Local Plan, albeit only for comments on the impact on the parish of Oundle and the town's emerging Neighbourhood Plan. The new closure date is 18th February but Council staff are encouraging those who wish to comment to do so as soon as possible.

The County Council have implemented the 3 tonne weight limit on the Oundle North Bridge with temporary signage which seems to be having very little impact. As for the completion of repairs, there was alarm at NCC's public announcement in December which said: "We anticipate that the works will commence in the later part of the next financial year." This has been changed this month to read: "We aim to complete the work by December 2019."

Harry Potter Book Night in Oundle

Celebrate Harry Potter Book Night at Oundle Library on Thursday 7th February – or visit the new Grindelwald's Lair escape room during the week.

Oundle Library is going crazy for Harry Potter Book Night, and it's the perfect reason to brush up on your spells, potions and magic! On Thursday 7th February there will be a Harry Potter party for children aged 5-11. Fancy dress is optional but there will be prizes for the best dressed witch or wizard, so come in costume if you can. The party promises to be lots of fun with a treasure hunt, potion making, and a Sorting Hat Selfie Wall, plus puzzles, crafts and games galore. Party guests will also be able to try the library's new escape room – Grindelwald's Lair – before its official opening the next day.

Escape from Grindelwald's Lair!

For older Harry Potter fans there is a special, themed escape room – Grindelwald's Lair – which will only be open from 8th-12th February during normal library hours. Choose whether to sign up as a team of 2-4 people, join forces with other library customers, or fly solo; then test your Potter knowledge and solve a series of fiendish clues and riddles to escape the lair.

Book Night Party

Tickets £1 per child. Ages 5-11, accompanied by an adult. Price includes the escape room. Space will be limited, so booking is essential.

Grindelwald's Lair

Tickets £3 per person. The escape room will only be open for a limited period – Friday 8th to Tuesday 12th, during normal library hours. Suitable for ages over 7 years, it's recommended that children have an adult accompanying them.

To book tickets for the Book Night party and/or Grindelwald's Lair, visit Oundle Library or email oundlib@firstforwellbeing.co.uk

Half A Sixpence

Remember Tommy Steele in Half A Sixpence? Come to the Castle Theatre and enjoy Spencer Barlow playing Kipps, with his childhood friend Ann played by Philippa Watt.

When parted as children, Arthur Kipps cut a sixpence in half and told Ann to look at her half when she missed him. Kipps goes to Folkestone to work for Mr Shalford – pompous owner of Shalfords Emporium. Years later Ann goes to Folkestone to find Arthur. They meet and rekindle their friendship.

Kipps meets Mr Chitterlow – an eccentric actor/playwright – and learns he has inherited a fortune. Kipps leaves the shop and finds he is drawn into High Society, falls in love with Helen Walsingham and gets engaged. Ann finds out before Kipps can tell her. She tells him she never wants to see him again and furious how he has treated her.

High Society is not for Kipps. After an argument with Helen's mother, he calls off the engagement. It is Ann he is in love with, begs forgiveness.

They marry and start a new life with Kipps' fortune. Money causes arguments. Kipps learns from his financial advisor Gordon Walsingham – Helen's brother – that every penny speculated has been lost.

Ann and Kipps are reconciled – all that matters is that they have each other. Then a surprising twist...

At the The Castle Theatre Wellingborough. Tuesday 5th to Saturday 9th March 2019.

Performances: Evenings: 7.30pm, Saturday Matinee 2.30pm. Tickets £17.50: Box office 01933 270007 or online www.castletheatre.co.uk

Residents invited to have their designs displayed in Rushden

Budding artists and writers of all ages are being urged to enter a unique competition to have their design displayed on a local tunnel to commemorate the heritage of Rushden.

East Northamptonshire Council, in partnership with Nenescape and Heritage Lottery, are asking local residents to design the Washbrook Road tunnel mural by creating an image which showcases the history and heritage of Rushden or writing a poem or quote of less than 50 words about what makes the town a great place to live and work.

Pictures and poems will be used in the tunnel, carved onto benches and added to interpretation panels to enrich this route. A variety of designs and words will be hand-picked at the end of February and will be painted by local graffiti artists in the spring.

The 'Out to Water, Into History' project is being delivered by East Northamptonshire

Council in partnership with Nenescape and funded by Heritage Lottery, to enhance the stretch of the East Northamptonshire Greenway from Rushden Lakes to Asda in the heart of Rushden. The five-year project will aim to improve this section of the Greenway by providing a clear link that will create a green corridor. Nenescape's wider work celebrates and looks after the heritage and nature of the Nene Valley.

Work is underway to clear the path and cut back the trees to make the route more accessible and volunteers will be carrying out a second litter-pick to ensure the area is rubbish free for residents and visitors to enjoy.

Leader of East Northamptonshire Council, Cllr Steven North, said: "Out to Water, Into History' is a fantastic project which will enhance the green spaces surrounding Rushden and create a route for residents and visitors to enjoy.

"The competition provides the local community with a unique opportunity to have their design displayed at the Washbrook Road tunnel for future generations to enjoy for many years to come. We look forward to seeing what creative designs local residents come up with."

Entries will close on Friday 15th February. To download an entry form or for more information visit: www.east-northamptonshire.gov.uk/washbrookrdtunnel or email lhawes@east-northamptonshire.gov.uk

Jill Mansell: Maybe This Time

Saturday 9th February at 7.45pm,
St Peter's Church, North Street, Oundle

Jill Mansell started writing fiction while working in the NHS, after she read a magazine article that inspired her to join a local creative writing class. She has since written over 20 Sunday Times bestsellers, including The One You Really Want and Meet Me at Beachcomber Bay.

In 2011 Take a Chance on Me won the Romantic Novelists Association's Romantic Comedy Prize. The judges said the book has "beautifully understated humour" and is "an utter delight". In 2012, To the Moon and Back was shortlisted for the RNA's Contemporary Romantic Novel award and in 2015 the RNA presented Jill with an outstanding achievement award.

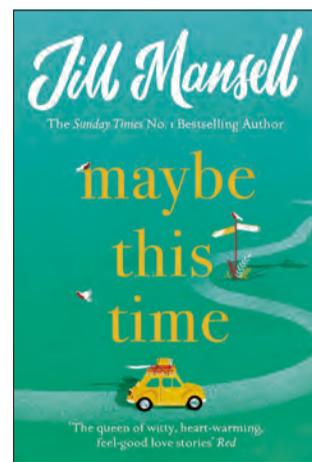

Her books have sold over 11 million copies around the world. Maybe This Time, her new book, is a heart-warming novel of love and friendship.

When Mimi first visits her dad's new home in the Cotswolds, she falls in love with Goosebrook and the people who live there. (Well, maybe not snooty Henrietta, who lets Mimi walk miles in the rain rather than give her a lift.)

There's Paddy, with his flashing eyes and seductive charm. Friendly and funny Lois makes Mimi laugh. And seriously gorgeous Cal is welcoming and charismatic. Though Mimi loves her city life and her career, she'd be very happy to return to Goosebrook if it means seeing more of him.

Life is about to take some unexpected and shocking twists and turns. Mimi's path and Cal's are set to cross again and again – but will it ever be the right time for both of them?

Jill's personal favourite amongst her novels is Three Amazing Things About You, which is about cystic fibrosis and organ donation; to her great delight, many people have joined the organ donor register as a direct result of reading this novel.

'The queen of witty, heart-warming, feel-good love stories' Red.

New youth group award

Irthlingborough Youth Club are on top of the world after being recognised as the Northamptonshire New Youth Group of the Year.

The award, which was presented at a celebratory dinner hosted by the Northamptonshire Association of Youth Clubs (NAYC) on 14th January, acknowledges Irthlingborough Youth Club's hard work and their successes in their first year. This includes positively meeting the needs of young people, showing innovation in their provision and delivering above and beyond expectations.

Kay Coombs, the leader of the Club, said: "We are really pleased to have received this award and can't wait to see what this year brings."

The Youth Club, which was only set up in April 2018, meets every Wednesday night at Irthlingborough Town Band Club.

It caters for children from Year 3 to Year 11, and has seen significant growth during its first few months. It is run by a small team of volunteers from the town and is affiliated with the NAYC. And there are still spaces! Details about the club can be found on their Facebook page and they can be contacted on irthlingboroughyouthclub@gmail.com.

News from the Chairman

It was a good start to the year with an invitation to the Northamptonshire Royal British Legion County Conference where representatives from branches in our district met with others from across Northamptonshire. There was an excellent turnout and it was interesting to hear the work that is being done to support our Armed Forces community and the act of remembrance, ensuring that the unique contributions made are never forgotten. There was a reminder of the Veterans Gateway which provides a single point of contact for veterans seeking advice and support on a wide variety of issues from healthcare to housing, finance to job seeking and managing personal relationships and good mental health. Find out more at www.veteransgateway.org.uk

The following day, together with David, my consort, I was delighted to be able to attend the Civic Service for the Mayor of Grantham. We have a number of events in the diary for the beginning of the year which we look forward to attending and I will report on in later editions.

ENC Chairman,
Cllr Wendy Brackenbury

No increase in council tax for Raunds Town Council for this year

Raunds Town Council is pleased to announce that its portion of the council tax will not increase in 2019/20.

Whilst households will see no increase in the share of council tax paid to Raunds Town Council, the Council will be able to maintain existing services and deliver a number of exciting projects for the town, including a sports wall at Amos Lawrence, new film equipment and staging for Saxon Hall, essential repairs to the steps and pathways around St Peter's Church and an ambitious project to regenerate the high street.

Cllr Richard Levell, Mayor of Raunds and Chairman of the Finance and Policy Committee, said: "Through prudent budgeting and forward planning the Town Council is able to maintain Raunds Town Council's share of the council tax at the same level as 2018/19. The Council has also successfully applied for a number of grants which will support our expenditure on projects in 2019/20."

In addition, new housing means that there are now more council taxpayers in the town thus generating additional revenue for the

Cllr Levell added: "The forthcoming move to unitary authorities across the county continues to mean that future demands on the Council are uncertain, and we have had to plan our finances accordingly."

A spokesperson for the Council explained that whilst Raunds Town Council will not be increasing its element of the council tax, other authorities, such as Northamptonshire County Council, The Police, and East Northamptonshire Council, have not yet finalised their budgets and may well increase their council tax, so households may see an increase in their total bill.

Wildlife News

Barely a month into 2019 and, at the time of writing, we have had hardly any frosts – though there is a forecast hint that winter weather might not forget us completely.

Records of previous years show that the coldest months are normally January and February, both of them a little colder than December, so it is too early to attempt long-term predictions. The snowfalls experienced in several European countries in mid-January added clear evidence that we must be aware of possible cold spells for at least several weeks yet (it could even have arrived before this reaches the printers!). Yet it is worth looking for the first hopeful and optimistic signs of the turn of the seasons.

Those are best seen in the commoner species of both plants and animals, though enthusiasts may have seen the reports of unusual bird species at various places around our county, including the tall, slender white birds known as egrets (at least two different species have been identified), and locally plants and animals are already showing their early signs. Two major factors (other than food) affect all wildlife: temperature (especially of the soil) and precipitation (rain, snow, etc.), so some spots show earlier than others. In our garden the first signs came from the blackbirds (simple identification of sexes by different colouring). A few weeks ago it was 'every man for himself' with two or three males regularly battling over food put out for them. Now there is one male defending what he considers his patch, bringing an accompanying female with no violence; other males try to steal a meal behind his back, but they have to watch to pick the safest time!

Yes, it does feel rather early for courtship to be their main idea, though blackbirds are always among the first to get down to the serious business of raising a family. The worry is that serious wintry conditions arriving after recent mild spells could not only restrict food supply when females need as much energy as possible but also be fatal to both plant and animal; it's those two important factors again – temperature and rain or snow. Keep a (weather) eye open.

New recruits have an amazing musical year

Members recruited by Northampton Male Voice Choir during 2018 reflect on a fantastic fundraising campaign.

Little did we know that, as the bells rang in New Year 2018, Northampton Male Voice Choir (NMVC) was primed and ready to launch a major recruitment campaign that would challenge Northamptonshire's men to learn to sing and, by doing so, raise money for Prostate Cancer UK.

In February over 70 men turned out to an open event held over two evenings at Franklin's Gardens – home of Northampton Saints RFC (where the offer of a free pint was certainly an incentive to attend).

NMVC's charismatic Musical Director, Stephen Bell fired up our interest and then threw down a challenge for us to learn to sing two songs and then perform them at a concert in aid of Prostate Cancer UK.

Over 60 of us took up that challenge and the charity concert held at the Spinney Hill Theatre on 14th April, in front of a sell-out audience of 600, was a tremendous success – raising a magnificent £15,000 for Prostate Cancer UK. Immediately after the performance, while we were still backstage and positively buzzing from the experience, Stephen asked us if we would like to take part in further training with a view to joining NMVC. For many of us the answer was a resounding "Yes, please"!

In September 35 of us finally completed our further training and were extremely proud to be formally welcomed as members of NMVC. Our joining made NMVC one of the biggest male choirs in the country.

Thanks to NMVC and its Musical Director, Stephen Bell, 2018 was a truly amazing year for us all and one in which we found (and in some cases rekindled) a real love of choral singing. Beyond our wildest dreams it saw us singing in a wide variety of concerts and venues, including sell-out events at Northampton's Cripps, Spinney Hill and Dergate Theatres and, to round the whole year off, at Franklin's Gardens on 28th December in front of 15,000 Northampton Saints and Exeter Chiefs fans.

As new recruits we have now firmly established ourselves in the choir, bringing the total of choristers to 90, and helping the NMVC raise £25,000 in 2018 for charities and good causes.

Your Health – It's just food!

Have you started the January detox? Are you trying to lose weight, eliminate toxins and deprive yourself of all the things you love to eat?

And have you laughed at the vegan/plant-based diet, knowing you can't manage without cheese?

As part of the training we run for osteopaths around the world, we recently interviewed a consultant gynaecologist who talked a lot about diet. She advocates eating a plant-based diet, but her approach is logical and practical, so don't stop reading if you're a serious carnivore.

She says that a plant based diet will:

- 1: Make you feel more energetic
- 2: Help with many health problems
- 3: Help the environment.

But, she said you don't have to suddenly become "vegetarian" or "vegan". You are allowed to choose what you cut out. And how often you cut it out.

That might sound stupidly logical, but it's easy to get cross with a vegetarian for eating a fish, criticise a vegan for having a piece of cheese, or challenge a drinking buddy who is trying to cut down on the booze.

So, if you're on a January detox, or you're trying to lose weight this month, don't be put off by people ridiculing the effort you're making.

If you want, eat nothing but green veg and porridge, what does it matter?! If you're doing something to help your body feel better it can only be good. You don't have to give it a name. You have my permission to just call it food.

And if you're increasing the number of plant-based or vegan meals you eat to see if it works, good for you.

Top tip: Lawnmower cuttings do not count as food, not under any circumstances, so there is no need to have anything to do with the lawnmower this month.

Have a healthy week!

Young performers head for panto heights as they prepare for Jack and the Beanstalk

Panto with a difference is on its way to Thrapston – thanks to the talents of a cast and backstage crew of more than 50 children and young people. Supported by a small group of adults, the team from Thrapston Dreamers will be staging Jack and the Beanstalk at The Plaza, Thrapston, on Friday 15th and Saturday 16th February (7pm both evenings).

Tickets are selling fast for their performances of the time-honoured tale, to which the Dreamers will add their own touch of magic through their dance routines, rousing songs and onstage laughs. While the story is traditional, the difference comes in that the young team members – the youngest is 5 – will take on all the onstage roles and many of the backstage and front-of-house jobs.

Dreamers aims to offer children a chance to develop their skills onstage and backstage, as well as entertaining their audiences, said show producer Lindsay Latimer: "We aim to provide a much-needed creative outlet for both our children and young adults, allowing them to build on their talents, find their talent, or most importantly, to see their confidence grow."

She added: "Throughout our rehearsals for Jack and the Beanstalk, we have seen all those things achieved and we know the children are looking forward immensely to presenting a show not only to their family and friends but also to the wider community."

Jack and the Beanstalk is the seventh show from the Thrapston Dreamers team, which began in 2015. The group presents two shows a year, one of which is a pantomime. Tickets (£6 each) are available from Luke Williams Luxury Hair Design in High Street, Thrapston.

East Northants Snooker League

Week 10 of the ENSL winter league. Some big results this week as the top two teams pull away from the others, with Coopers A maintaining their seven point advantage. Five teams in the middle of the table now, with only three points between them, and the bottom two teams appear to be falling behind.

Windmill D hosted Windmill B this week. Windmill B captain Tony Jupp played against Ricky Johnson. Tony played solid stuff as he won the opening frame. But Ricky upped his game in the next and managed to slot home the decisive black to level at one frame each.

Windmill D captain Aaron Whittemore squared up with Roy Barlow. Aaron certainly fancied his chances, knowing that Roy had only managed to win one frame all season. But, crowd favourite Roy rolled back the years and potted well to win frames three and four. Overall result, 5-1 for Windmill B, meaning they've taken 11 points from a possible 12 in the past fortnight.

Higham SAS played Windmill Underdogs this week. Surprisingly, the Underdogs decided to drop their mainstay players – Kev Freeman and Neal Vaughan – to give them a break. This proved to be a wise decision. Adam Underwood and Scott Rose looked pretty evenly matched as they took it in turns to win a frame each. Over to Pete 'Belg' Beerten to see what he could do against James Dolby. Belg won the fifth frame comfortably, but James bounced back as he compiled a 31 break to win the sixth and final frame quite easily, giving the Underdogs a 4-2 win and moving them up to joint 4th in the table.

A clash of the big guns this week, as second place Coopers Ball Bashers played against the leaders Coopers A. Lee Bunker and Mick Tartagliani cancelled each other out in the opening frames. Having lost a few frames recently, Ian Wiggins was apprehensive in his frames against serial potter Justin Gaggini. However, Ian played very well and, despite a 31 break from Gaggini, he won both frames three and four.

This week's results:

- Windmill C 5-1 Windmill Warriors
- Windmill D 1-5 Windmill B
- Coopers Ball Bashers 3-3 Coopers A
- Higham SAS 2-4 Windmill Underdogs
- Coopers Troopers = BYE
