NEWS IN BRIEF

Vaccine offered to students aged 12-15

School pupils aged 12-15 will begin to receive the Covid-19 vaccine as the Northamptonshire Vaccination Programme begins its rollout to secondary schools across the county.

Following the Department of Health and Social Care's decision to extend vaccination to all in the 12-15 age group, youngsters will be offered the vaccine at school on a phased basis.

The programme is being led by the Northamptonshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust school-aged immunisation service, and parents or guardians will begin to receive letters with details of when the vaccine will be offered.

They will also be asked to provide consent for their child to receive the vaccination, either through an online e-consent process or via a paper form if required.

The local school-aged immunisation service has put in place processes to exclude children who have already received a first dose of the vaccine under previous advice from the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation, for example if they are clinically vulnerable.

TEA IS SERVED

Unable to meet up during the height of the Covid pandemic, 22 senior citizens finally got together for a tea party with a difference in Higham Ferrers recently.

Not only were they treated to a slap up high tea at the Bede House, next to St Mary's Church, but they all finally got to see the new World War 1 Memorial Garden next to the church.

The memorial garden has become a space to contemplate and reflect and is well used, guests were told during their tour.

As they strolled around the grounds, they also learned about the rewilding projects going on in the churchyard.

The Friends of St Mary's hosted the tea party for Serve users. Serve is the agency which supports the elderly and vulnerable living in their own homes and the tea party guests belong to Serve's Befriender Group and Wellbeing Project.

The Friends of St Mary's chair, Barry Matson, told them that the tea party was made possible as a result of a grant from Nenescape's 10 day-long Nene Valley Festival which culminated in a Heritage Family Fun Day at Rushden Lakes.

The high tea guests later checked out an exhibition about the Higham Ferrers Bedesmen which was on display at the Festival at Rushden Lakes.

The Bede House was founded in 1422 by Henry Chichele, the Archbishop of Canterbury, for a dozen local poor men aged 50 years and older with one Bedeswoman to look after them.

"It was like a retirement home. It's a wonderful building and next year it will be the 600th anniversary," Barry explained, adding that each of the 12 men got a penny a day, which is worth more than today's pension.

Bedesmen are still appointed and attend civic functions and one of them, Christopher O'Rourke, a member of the Higham Ferrers Tourism committee, attended the special tea party in his Bedesman cloak.

"It was a really lovely afternoon," said guest Marian Crouch as a scone and clotted cream and other delights were delivered to her table.

"It was tea at The Ritz with a piano," beamed another.

WILDLIFE NEWS

WORDS BY ROY BURRELL

'Equinox' is not the commonest of words but we all experience it twice a year. We know about "changing the clocks", when time seems to take a sudden leap of an hour; which way depends on the time of year (backwards this month).

But another "time event" close at hand also affects us and our wildlife, though this one occurs slowly and silently, easily missed if we rely on the calendar – the name gives the game away: the equinox. Even those with no knowledge of languages can make an 'educated guess' that it is when the two halves of day and night are, very briefly, equal.

Whatever changes of temperature, rainfall, wind or anything else we may have put up with during the year, the equinoxes will still be "on cue". Obviously, though, we have no control over the weather, to alter the effect of plant growth built up during the summer – whether or not our area was dried up or flooded in what was a very mixed bag for the year.

Changes in plant numbers inevitably are passed on to the animal kingdom where we see many things happening at the 'right' time while others are uncertain about when to take their yearly workout. One of the best examples is the 'fall', an Americanism which is now sometimes preferred over 'autumn'; depending on our memories older readers may decide that 21st-century weather is "not like it used to be in my day".

In fact, leaving out man-produced problems like climate change, nature's cycle revolves around not the yearly calendar but the sun's reminders. Solar energy is not new; plants were the first solar collectors, with one big difference: plants worked out a system using the 'left-overs' to move round the cycle. We call it 'composting', but it is turning over the page to next year when we know that the vernal equinox will restart the circle – though not until the darker months complete their work (on time!) with help from a third, often forgotten, contribution from organisms we call 'fungi' – but that's a different story.

GENEALOGY JOTTINGS

WORDS BY JAN PEARSON

Many of us rely upon births, marriages and deaths to help us map out the lives of our ancestors. But have you ever considered looking into divorces in your family?

Prior to the 20th century in England, divorce was mainly on the grounds of adultery – or following seven years of desertion. However, this was really only available to wealthy men and, because of the high cost and the rules surrounding it, the "poor man's divorce" of bigamy could be more common.

Believe it or not, it was not until 1923 that made adultery by either a husband or wife grounds for divorce. This meant that the wife no longer had to prove additional reasons against her husband, but both spouses still had to prove the adultery. A further amendment to the Matrimonial Causes Act came along in 1937 when, in addition to adultery, grounds could also be cruelty, desertion and incurable insanity. As before, each allegation needed to be proved. That is not even 100 years ago!

It is possible to undertake an online search for divorce records from 1917 to 1937 at the National Archives Discovery website: <http://discovery.nationalarchives.gov.uk/> In section J77, you will be able to search by the name of the petitioner, respondent or correspondent, for divorce suits in England and Wales – both successful and unsuccessful. Earlier ones (from 1858 to 1916) are available to search on Ancestry – use your Library card to access this website if you do not have a subscription!

I obtained a copy of my Gran's divorce papers, which took place in 1926. She had only married her first husband three years earlier – and he went off with another woman less than a year later! The papers also provided the addresses of where the people were living at the time – something that I would not have otherwise known, but also that Gran was awarded 7 shillings a week in child support for their son.

White Mills Marina wins top national accolade

White Mills Marina has been named Towergate's Inland Marina of the Year 2021. It is the second year running that the Northamptonshire marina, situated on the River Nene at Earls Barton, has been awarded the prestigious national award.

The announcement came at the virtual awards ceremony hosted by The Yacht Harbour Association on Thursday 16th September. And whilst there was no physical event to attend, the excitement and thrill of the announcement was hugely welcomed by the entire White Mills team.

Voted for by the public, White Mills was commended for its friendliness, hardworking team and stunning location. Commenting, Operations Manager Gary Butcher said: "We are over the moon to have won the title of Inland Marina of the Year again. It means a huge amount and it is great to get recognition for all the hard work we put in daily to ensure the boaters' experience is an excellent one."

"The past 18 months have been challenging, but we managed to get through and continue to provide boaters with first class customer service in a safe environment. We would like to thank everyone who voted for us. We really are very grateful."

The 141 purpose-built berth marina opened on 1st April 2016 offering moorings for wide beam boats, narrowboats and cruisers. Providing a wide range of on-site services from chandlery, gas, diesel and coal through to the award-winning boathouse café, White Mills is committed to attracting visitors to the River Nene and surrounding Nene Valley, working closely with Destination Nene Valley and the Friends of the River Nene. With its fantastic outlook over open fields and amazing views, promoting tourism is not just aimed at boaters but campers too. White Mills is the home of a thriving and much lauded Certificated Camping and Caravanning Club site.

PUBWATCH GETS BEHIND SNIFFER DOG CHECKING FOR DRUGS

Local licensees have joined forces with North Northamptonshire Council (NNC) and Northamptonshire Police to support a crackdown on illegal drug use in their pubs and nightspots.

On 27th August, NNC Licensing and Police officers were welcomed into 11 local premises in Rushden, Raunds, Thrapston, Islip, Irthingborough and Higham Ferrers with drug dog Hulk and his handler, Marcus Hart from Alpha K9 Security. Rushden Town Council funded use of the sniffer dog whilst North Northamptonshire Council and Northamptonshire Police combined resources to carry out the activity.

Cllr Andy Mercer, Executive Member for Housing and Community, explained: "Neither drug nor knife misuse is a significant issue in the licensed premises of North Northants. However, one incident is one too many, which is why we're working with our partners and the local PubWatch members to tackle drug misuse and associated crime.

"The night-time economy is an important component of North Northamptonshire's economy and we fully intend to protect it and its patrons.

"Like the Police, we have zero-tolerance of illegal drug use and knife crime. We will therefore continue to work with all our partners, including the Police and the licensees (who fully supported this operation), to ensure people in North Northants can enjoy a safe night out."

Sergeant Leigh Françoise Goodwin, Lead Officer in Wellingborough and East Northants, said: "The objective of this operation is to deter and disrupt people supplying and using drugs and carrying offensive weapons.

"This was a very worthwhile and positive operation with searches resulting in the reduction of drug dealing and potentially violent behaviour. It sends out a clear warning to those thinking of selling drugs or carrying weapons in our local pubs – Hulk will sniff you out and we will take action."

Leader of North Northamptonshire Council, Jason Smithers, added: "The work we do with licensees and the Police to help promote safer drinking and responsible behaviour is all about making sure everyone can have a good night out in North Northamptonshire."

"My thanks go to our partners for their support of this work and to Hulk who did a great job searching premises."

Public health officials encourage Northamptonshire's smokers to take part in Stoptober 2021

Stoptober is back to launch its 10th mass quit attempt on 1st October, calling on smokers in England to join the 2.3 million others who have made a quit attempt with the campaign since it launched a decade ago in 2012.

Over 6 million adults in England still smoke, and it remains the leading cause of premature death, with almost 75,000 preventable deaths a year. A new nationwide survey of 2,000 current smokers released today has found that nearly half (45%) have been smoking more since the first lockdown began. Key reasons reported are due to being bored in the lockdowns (43%) or the pandemic making them more anxious (42%).

Currently, there are more than 95,000 smokers in Northamptonshire.

Corby has the highest prevalence of smokers in England with 27.5% of the population classed as smokers. 21% of the population in the Wellingborough smoke and 18.8% in Northampton. Whilst the county's smoking prevalence (16.4) is not too dissimilar to the national average (13.4), the high rates in some of our towns remain a cause for concern.

The disruptive impact of the pandemic on smoking patterns make this year's Stoptober mass quit attempt more important than ever. Stopping smoking brings multiple benefits to health, some immediate and others that build over time. These include being able to start moving better, being able to breathe more easily and saving money. The average smoker can save £1,875.60 a year by quitting smoking.

Last year, Northamptonshire's Stop Smoking Service set 274 quit dates for Stoptober, and 184 of those people successfully quit smoking. You are three times more likely to quit if you get support from a dedicated service, with ongoing support, advice and nicotine replacement products. Northamptonshire's Stop Smoking Service has set more than 1,400 quit dates since April this year.

Stoptober is based on research that if a smoker can make it to 28 days smoke free, they are five times more likely to quit for good.

The campaign first launched in 2012 when one in five adults smoked (19.3%); this has since fallen to one in seven in England (13.9%).

Richard Holley, Area Manager and Tobacco Control Lead, Northamptonshire Stop Smoking Service, said: "Stoptober is the perfect time to try and stop smoking, because thousands of other smokers are quitting at the same time as you.

"There is something very motivating about all being in it together, and I would encourage all smokers to get involved. Since April this year, our service has set quit dates with more than 1,400 Northamptonshire smokers.

"Locally, the Northamptonshire Stop Smoking Service offers 12 weeks of specialist support, which includes regular telephone appointments with a Stop Smoking Advisor and a free course of nicotine replacement therapy.

"If you would like support to stop smoking this Stoptober, visit www.northnorthants.gov.uk/stopsmoking for more information."

Lucy Wightman, Director of Public Health for North and West Northamptonshire Councils said: "Smoking remains the leading cause of premature death in England and sadly, we have seen increases in the rates of smoking prevalence during the pandemic.

"If you are thinking about quitting, doing so with the support of our service means you are not alone, you are three times more likely to succeed with the support of our service than going it alone, and you have 12 weeks of support to help you through the process. Many smokers across Northamptonshire are already benefitting from the additional support that the stop smoking service is able to provide.

"It's never too late to quit smoking. Start today and if you stay smoke free for 28 days you are five times more likely to quit for good."

YOUR HEALTH – EATING DUCT TAPE

WORDS BY CLAIRE SHORT

As you probably know, we're in the process of moving The Ashgrove Clinic to the Market Square in Higham. This means we're all having to deal with those common stresses from moving house:

- Running out of boxes
- Not knowing what to pack first
- Getting tangled up in sticky tape
- Back pain
- Having to eat bits of duct tape
- Anxiety about the whole process.

I asked three local professionals for advice on how to cope with the stress. The three were: Hypnotherapy consultant, Christian Baker; Mindfulness teacher, Nicola Smith; and CBT counsellor Debbie Kirton. Here are their top tips:

- Take some deep breaths – stress makes us shallow breathe. Counter this with deep calming breaths
- Pause – if you're trying to complete 20 tasks at once, stop (breathe!), and pick one to focus on.
- Step away from the booze – be careful with your alcohol intake. It's easy to increase it when you're feeling under pressure, but it can reduce your ability to focus.
- Get professional help when you get stuck.

If you're one of the many people moving house right now, or if you're struggling with stress or anxiety for other reasons, remember that expert professional help is available locally. Don't sit at home and suffer when there are people who can help you find your path again.

For us we know that we'll soon be in a beautiful new clinic in the centre of town – so the stresses will diminish soon. Until then we'll continue to eat the duct tape!

Garden blossoms during lockdown

A unique community garden which took shape during lockdown has now been captured on film for all to see.

Inspirational footage of the recently opened Duchy Barn Garden in the heart of Higham Ferrers – alongside the 15th Century Chichele College – will soon be available on social media and YouTube.

And it is hoped there is also the chance that the film, commissioned by Higham Ferrers Tourism, could be aired on one of the country's popular TV gardening shows.

"We would love to show the world exactly what can be done by a variety of enthusiastic and dedicated volunteers," said organiser and Higham Ferrers Tourism committee member, Carol Fitzgerald.

"The film is a tribute to all the people who gave their time, money, skills and gifts to turn an idea into a fascinating reality and the perfect social haven for years to come."

The film, by Gareth Hughes of HGA Studios in Northampton, was shot as part of the recent Nene Valley Festival, which culminated in the Heritage Family Day at nearby Rushden Lakes on Sunday 19th September.

The film was made possible following a grant from Nene Valley Festival.

The garden, on a strip of land owned by the Duchy of Lancaster and sandwiched between the side of Chichele College and a row of nearby barns used by local community charities, is part of the story of the pandemic, Carol explained.

It all began in November 2019 when volunteers from the local Co-op food store started clearing what was a derelict and overgrown, messy, muddy site.

Carol saw the potential of the site and various funds and grants enabled the mud to be transformed into a showpiece community garden with walkways, wheelchair-friendly paths, an arch and well-positioned seating.

And as it was a historical site, the Higham Ferrers Archaeology and Research Society (HiFARS) was called in and their excavations duly unearthed a wealth of ancient finds.

Then the HiFARS chair, Olwen Mayes, who doesn't believe in leaving a stone unturned, discovered one interesting stone, which in turn led to further investigations. And when members got digging, they discovered some beautiful historic cobblestones.

The design plans were then changed to incorporate the cobblestones, which are now a major feature in the garden.

Meanwhile, a group of five volunteers, sticking to safe social distancing rules, turned out in all types of weather to plant, weed and fashion the flower and vegetable gardens.

Carol Fitzgerald and Gary Hunt, a member of the Gateway Club, make sure the giant sunflowers don't fall down

World famous Northants champion brass band prepares to return to the stage

The GUS Band is preparing for a Royal Albert Hall return following the Covid-19 pandemic.

You may not know it, but tucked away in Northampton is one of the world's finest and most famous brass bands, and they will soon be representing the region at the National Brass Band Championships at the Royal Albert Hall.

The GUS Band, originally named the Munn and Felton Works Band was formed by Fred Felton in 1933 in Kettering.

During its 88-year history, thousands have applauded the band in concert, and the Midlanders have dented the northern pride of Yorkshire and Lancashire, traditionally the home of brass bands, by winning no less than six national titles, the British Open Championships and being proclaimed World Champions.

Fast forward to 2021 and for the 25 members of the GUS Band, the Covid pandemic has meant the cancellation of many concerts and contest appearances, much to the disappointment of both players and supporters. The last time the band performed together was at the Midlands Area National Championship qualifiers way back in March 2020. The band came off-stage that day having played a winning performance but with no idea that this was to be the last time that they would play together as a band for another 15 months!

Now with only a few weeks to go until their Royal Albert Hall comeback, preparations are in full swing for their performance.

Talking of the first rehearsal back following the pandemic, the band's Musical and Artistic Director, Chris Jeans commented: "It was fantastic to be playing together again and although surreal at first, a couple of notes in, it was like we'd never been away."

"Representing the Midlands at the Albert Hall is always an honour, but to do so after the challenges of the last 18 months makes it even more special."

For more details of the band's upcoming performances, visit: The GUS Band website: www.thegusband.com

Why not try a Respite Stay in the Quaint Market town of Raund's

Ashfield House is in the pretty town of Raund's, Northamptonshire. A respite stay is a really good way to introduce care to a loved one. We very often find, for an older person, seeing a beginning and end date is a positive start for them.

Respite stays can support the person themselves to live longer independently at home, often thinking of them a bit like a holiday.

Respite stays can also offer a break for home carers or family, safe in the knowledge that their loved one is being cared for at Ashfield House.

Our care fees are dependent on care requirements so please call or email to discuss on:

Take inspiration from Emma Raducanu – try tennis at Oundle Tennis Club

Emma Raducanu's spectacular success at the US Open Tennis Championships has shone a spotlight on British tennis and the women's game in particular. Such a rapid ascent through the rankings is rarely witnessed and there is much to be celebrated in the way that our new national star has handled the worldwide fame brought about by her accomplishment.

Whilst you or your child may not reach such dizzy heights, tennis is a fantastic (and low-Covid-transmission risk) sport which can be enjoyed by players of all ages and standards throughout the year. To encourage more people to try tennis, Oundle Tennis Club is offering a 40% discount on membership fees from now until the end of April (when the new membership year begins).

The club offers five full size and two mini courts, all of which have been recently upgraded, as well as free to use floodlights which allow play until 9.30pm each night.

Six regular club sessions provide opportunities for members of all standards to 'turn up and play', whilst those who enjoy competitive tennis can enter club tournaments and local league teams.

Members can also book courts to play whenever suits their diary and can bring a guest for a small fee or book the ball machine as an opponent.

Those wanting to improve their game can access the busy coaching programme for individuals and groups, led by Level 4 LTA CCA Performance Coach James Muir. Popular junior coaching camps and tournaments are held throughout the year too. Details are published on the Tennis Club website, or contact James on jmtennisace@hotmail.com or 07985 286176. James is offering those new to his coaching programme a 5% discount on the price of any lessons booked before the end of November.

"I learned to play tennis at an early age and, like riding a bike, it is a skill you never forget and it can provide enjoyment all year round," said Club Chairman Jason Atkinson.

"OTC is a friendly, medium sized and growing club where everyone is welcomed. I strongly recommend that – whether you are starting from scratch, needing to dust off the rust or an accomplished player – you make the most of our offer and sign up!"

When played seriously, tennis can offer a significant cardio workout, burning up to 1,000 calories an hour; mental focus and tactical judgement are also required to overcome an opponent. When played socially, it provides a wonderful way to take some gentle exercise in the company of familiar or new faces. During these times when physical and mental well-being should be prioritised, it is an outright winner!

Those interested in joining can contact the club to arrange a visit or introduction, or sign up through the website.
