NEWS IN BRIEF

New name for ENCS

East Northants Community Services (the working name of East Northants Faith Group) will now be known as Encompass.

The new charity name was a word that struck a chord with many people when consulted – the charity aims to encompass everything and everyone in its approach, to support those facing homelessness, addiction, and poverty.

Due to the rapid expansion of services beyond the charity's traditional geographic area and other external factors, it was decided that East Northants Community Services no longer reflected what it did, or where.

As well as the services delivered through Encompass, the work of 'East Northants Faith Group' will continue.

The organisation recognises that the work that it does to bring those of faith together to address issues within the community is incredibly important – such as Leaders' Lunches, monthly newsletters, supporting refugees and supporting faith groups to serve their communities.

Festival to celebrate Nene Valley communities past and present

A summer festival showcasing the history, archaeology and heritage of the Nene Valley will launch at the Chester House Estate on Saturday 25th June and at Stanwick Lakes on Sunday 26th June.

The Chester House Estate, Stanwick Lakes and the School of Archaeology and Ancient History at the University of Leicester, with support from Rushden Lakes, are running the month-long festival.

At the Chester House Estate, the launch will be Roman themed with fun for all the family, including Roman re-enactments. Find out about everyday life as a Roman soldier, with the University of Leicester on hand to answer questions.

On the Sunday at Stanwick Lakes, the theme will be 'Traditional Crafts Past and Present' and activities will include an exciting

'Travel through Time' trail and demonstrations of traditional crafts, including blacksmithing, jewellery making and chainsaw carving.

CLlr Helen Howell, Deputy Leader of North Northamptonshire Council and Executive Member for Sport, Leisure, Culture and Tourism, said: "I am delighted that a festival celebrating the history, archaeology and heritage is coming to the Nene Valley.

"There is going to be something for the whole family, from activities for children and those interested in a career in a history through to exciting re-enactments and workshops. I hope that you will be able to join us across the Festival and don't forget – entrance to the Chester House Estate is free."

The month-long festival also includes a day of activities for children and young people at Chester House on Saturday 2nd July, with archaeology taster activities and drop-in sessions for those thinking about careers, apprenticeships and university study in archaeology, history, heritage, conservation, sustainable tourism and related fields.

Experts from the University of Leicester, together with archaeology and heritage professionals, will be on hand to answer questions and provide guidance.

Further activities will continue throughout the month including, at Chester House Estate on Saturday 9th and Saturday 16th July, opportunities to find out how people of all ages can get involved with archaeology, history and heritage in the Nene Valley and beyond.

On the final weekend of the Festival, The Lace Wars, an 18th-century re-enactment group will be onsite with activities including leather craft workshops with experts from the Leather Conservation Centre at both Chester House and Stanwick, including iron-age shoe making.

Bookable talks and tours will be on offer throughout the month at both Chester House and Stanwick, with information available online.

WORDS BY ROY BURRELL

Are there any animals without legs? Of course there are. How can they move from one place to another without legs? Think of worms or snakes. We manage pretty well with two but many of the creatures sharing our planet have more. Four for dogs, cows, tigers etc. Insects provide almost infinite examples of the six-legged kind and the eight-legged army is commonly represented by the widely mixed bag of spiders and their relatives.

It might seem that we should be running out of spots to fit in even more, but nature has not run out of ideas and finds plenty of opportunity and space. Most of them are native to other geographical areas but we have our own representatives with more legs, as shown by their names (not mathematically accurate): centipedes (from the Latin for 100) and millipedes (though there is no space to cope with 1,000 legs even when arranged in pairs arrangement in pairs).

Long bodies are required to accommodate these large numbers, and in turn many of them are able to bend those bodies, giving them a wriggly way of walking and an ability for some species to cause anxiety if one arrives anywhere nearby.

Some of them do have sharp biting jaws backed up by poison but they are highly unlikely to affect humans. Just remember the size of us compared to these invaders and it should be clear that a 'sting' will not be dangerous. The more frightening results will not be found among the species on the British list (most easily identified by the hard dark brown skin, which looks as if coated in dark shiny varnish).

Millipedes, on the other hand, do not have the protective armour of that skin, and rely on camouflage with dull, dark colours. Many species roll themselves into a ball which makes them look like pills, but their ancient use as medicines (taken live!) has luckily long since been discarded.

They do however contribute to the countryside, where centipedes and some of the millipedes act as predators, controlling pests. Worldwide there are well over 10,000 species – but not many in this country.

GENEALOGY JOTTINGS

WORDS BY JAN PEARSON

Have you been watching the latest series of Who Do You Think You Are? I found the one with Richard Osman interesting – it tends to draw you in when you discover that there are murderous connections!

I won't give anything more away in case you have not seen the episode and want to watch it on repeat, but his several times great grandfather's name appeared in the newspapers of the day.

It is so helpful when this happens as you can discover so much more about your ancestors rather than them being just a list of names. This several times great grandfather went by the surname of Gillam, a name which also appears in my own family tree and also from the same town. I think that a touch of further research on my part is needed!

Talking of newspapers, I have been helping someone with their family history recently and discovered one of their several greats appearing in the newspapers of 1840. The chap had gone bankrupt and had to sell all of his household possessions by auction. The newspaper report of the upcoming auctions listed all of his possessions down to bed linen, mattresses, a clock and even kitchen utensils. As he had a wife and four children at the time, I shouldn't think that his family was best pleased! The following year, the 1841 census shows that the family were still together but their address leads me to believe that they could have been living in somewhat straitened circumstances. Other evidence that I have found also points towards a split in the family that took place within a couple of years. I wonder if the bankruptcy played a part...

Don't forget that Oundle Library has FREE access to Find My Past, Ancestry and the British Newspaper Archive via their computers. So it is always worth popping your ancestor's name in there and seeing if they have appeared in the newspapers of the past.

Council considers opportunities for Family Hubs programme

North Northamptonshire Council has agreed to adopt a Family Hub Model for North Northamptonshire. The council was recently identified as one of the 75 Local Authorities nationally who will be designated as 'Family Hub Development' authorities. As a result, the council will have access to additional Government funding to reshape services and improve access to services and support.

In October 2021, as part of the Government's Spending Review, the Government announced over £300m to transform Start for Life and Family Hub services in 75 upper tier local authorities across England. The programme will fund a network of Family Hubs, Start for Life and family help services, including breastfeeding services, parenting programmes and parent-infant mental health support.

The objective of the programme is to improve whole family service delivery, address disproportionality, inequalities and drive improved health and education outcomes. Research shows that effective early intervention can improve children's wellbeing, educational attainment and life chances, reduce family poverty, improve mental health and reduce negative outcomes such as unemployment, which carry a significant cost to society.

The intention is that over a three-year period, better ways of working and sharing information will be developed, led by the local authority. It is expected that Family Hubs will enhance integrated working by enabling easier access to support, better outcomes for families, more effective service delivery and smarter use of budgets. They are a way of joining up locally to improve access to services, the connections between families, professionals, services providers, and putting relationships at the heart of family help.

The national Family Hubs programme will provide best practice and related guidance to each council, to help them identify the best model for individual areas.

Updates on the national programme as it impacts on North Northamptonshire will be presented to the Executive Advisory Panel for Education, Employment and Skills on 30th June 2022.

Fotheringhay celebrates

The small village of Fotheringhay in Northamptonshire has always had close links with royalty – after all Mary Queen of Scots was beheaded there and Richard III was born in the village.

The whole village turned out to mark the Jubilee, starting with the planting of a horse chestnut tree dedicated to the Queen. The tree plaque was unveiled by the oldest and youngest residents.

There then followed a fantastic village tea with lots of bubbles and toasts. Cathryn Laxton had made an amazing coronation crown cake which was later auctioned along with other items. This together with a raffle raised over £1,700 for bowel cancer.

Bill Martin, the Chairperson of Fotheringhay, said it was wonderful to see everyone enjoying spending the time together and being able to raise money for others was the icing on the cake!

YOUNG ARTISTS DRAW ON HISTORICAL KNOWLEDGE TO LEAVE A LEGACY

Higham Ferrers schoolchildren have been finding out about one well-known historical figure who was in a class of his own.

The pupils have been doing their research into the life of Henry Chichele, who was born in Higham Ferrers and later became the Archbishop of Canterbury in the 15th century.

His local legacy is the historic Chichele College, and the Bede House next to St Mary's Parish Church – both celebrating the 600th anniversary of their foundation this year.

The children had been invited to take part in an art competition organised by Higham Ferrers Tourism (Tourism) which went on display at the end of May alongside an impressive exhibition about Henry Chichele.

Both premiered in Chichele College during the recent Chichele Garden Fair, which attracted some 500 visitors.

"We had hundreds of entries into the art exhibition, it was really overwhelming," said Carol Fitzgerald, a member of Tourism and Chair of the Chichele College management committee.

"Every time I went into the town, I was confronted by children going to the Chichele College and the Bede House to do their research before submitting their art entries. The idea is that every child in Higham Ferrers knows about Henry Chichele. Then, they can become mini tour guides and pass on their knowledge to their parents."

Entries from The Ferrers School were particularly impressive, she added.

Having enlisted the support of one of the school's art teachers, Joshua Browne, students excelled themselves by producing entries which captured the essence of Henry Chichele, while adding their artistic ideas to a map of the town.

"This was such a wonderful idea and visitors were really impressed," Carol said.

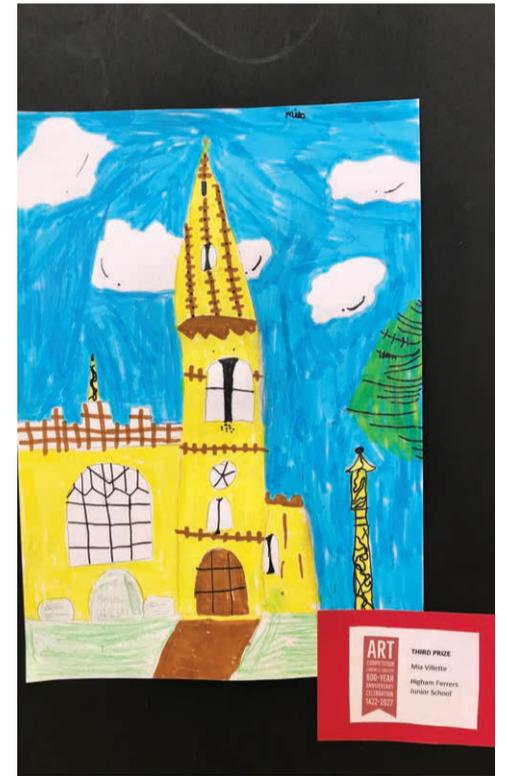

Colemans, the town's long-standing sponsor of the art exhibition, once again came up with art and craft prizes for the various winners.

The Henry Chichele Exhibition was the creation of Tourism member Pam Webbley with help from Stuart Wilby, the Prior of the Bedesmen, based on content by the Chichele Society's Doreen Holyoak.

The exhibition will go on display at the Bede House during Tourism's Big Bank Holiday Weekend on 27th-29th August, at the Rushden Lakes Family Heritage Fun Day on 18th September, as well as the Chichele Society's Annual Exhibition on 24th and 25th September.

In other Chichele news, a small painting of the College in the days when it was a farm has been bought by Tourism for an undisclosed sum and permission will now be sought from Historic England to hang it above a chimney in the College's mezzanine floor.

Some of the ancient stones which fell from Chichele College, went on sale at the Chichele Garden Fair, raising £315 for the Ukraine Appeal.

Festival of Social Care to be held in North Northamptonshire

North Northamptonshire Council will hold a Festival of Social Care at Wellingborough Library on Monday 18th July, 10am-3pm to highlight career opportunities within the sector.

Across the event, you will be able to find out how a career in adult social care can be rewarding, the benefits of working for North Northamptonshire Council and current roles available.

As well as an opportunity to find out more about working in adult social care across the area, interviews will be available on the day.

Cllr Helen Harrison, the council's Executive Member for Adults, Health and Wellbeing, said: "Our Festival of Social Care is designed to showcase how rewarding a career in adult social care can be, but also show the excellent opportunities we have in North Northamptonshire.

"I would encourage everyone

FESTIVAL OF Social Care

to come along and have a chat with our team, even if you have never considered a career in adult social care or are not sure if you have the right experience."

Cllr Jason Smithers, Leader of the council, added: "Those individuals who work in adult social care across North Northamptonshire make such a big difference to people's lives and this has been highlighted even more over the last couple of years. We are looking for local, hardworking staff who can help us provide high quality adult social care across a variety of roles."

The Festival of Social Care will take place from 10am to 3pm, with interviews held between 3pm and 5pm.

Speaking of the event, the conductor and compere for the evening Stephen Bell said: "We've been planning this for over a year now and it's all coming together brilliantly, I can't wait to hear the Youth Performances because we want to give the young talent in Northampton an opportunity to have some stage and performing experience. ## CHOIR'S HUGE TROPHY HAUL AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

On Saturday 11th June Northampton Male Voice Choir (NMVC) under its Musical Director, Stephen

Bell, took part in five classes at the inaugural North Northamptonshire Music Festival and bagged a magnificent set of four 1st place trophies including one for winning the final 'Choir of Choirs' section.

Accompanied brilliantly on piano throughout the festival by Andy Poole, NMVC was awarded a near maximum 93 points in the Sacred Class by Festival Adjudicator, Irene Grant-Jones, for its outstanding, winning performance of 'Let All Men Sing' (Keith Christopher) and 'Canon in D' (Johann Pachelbel arr Noël Goemanne).

NMVC Chairman Mark York said: "This amazing event allowed us to properly demonstrate how good the Northampton Male Voice Choir is and how versatile we have become. It is testament to the continuing hard work carried out by the choristers and music team alike. Come and see our multi award-winning choir soon, we'd love to entertain you!"

NMVC's next major event will be on Saturday 16th July when the choir, together with Joshua 'The Tenor' Daniels, will be supporting the world class GUS brass band in a Classical Spectacular "Picnic on the Lawn". See more details on this page.

Executive approves new preferred route for the A509 Isham bypass

The Council's Executive recently considered an update on the work which has been and will be undertaken on the A509 Isham Bypass.

During the meeting, the Executive agreed a change to the Preferred Route for the scheme, as set out in the recommendations of the report and agreed to delegate authority to the Executive Member for Highways, Travel & Assets to procure and award a contract to provide professional services to support the delivery of the A509 Isham Bypass.

Work on the A509 Isham Bypass has continued with varying degrees of progress since the early 1990s. The Executive has been forced to change the current preferred route for the A509 Isham Bypass to tie in to the improvements to the A509 which are being constructed as part of the Symmetry Park development on a different alignment to the original approved application.

Work is currently underway to develop a new planning application and the Outline Business Case for the scheme. These are due to be submitted in October 2022. A further public consultation and exhibition will be held before the planning application is submitted.

Further progress will then be dependent on securing the necessary statutory permissions and further Government funding. Following the granting of planning permission, it is expected it will be necessary to publish new Compulsory Purchase and Side Roads Orders. If there are objections to these orders, the Secretary of State will hold a public inquiry. Once the Orders are confirmed, a Full Business Case will be submitted to the Department for Transport to secure funding to construct the road.

It is currently projected that construction will start in November 2024, with the bypass opening in November 2026.

Lottery grant for 4x4 response team

Northants 4x4 Response is delighted to have received a grant from the National Lottery Community Fund to purchase additional equipment to further help it support its work in the county.

The charity, which works alongside the emergency and essential services to provide specialist logistic support and water rescue capabilities, has used the money to upgrade its communication systems and purchase a specially equipped trailer.

The team's upgraded radios allow for secure communication across the county and beyond, and include GPS tracking technology so that the duty controllers can see where resources are, and check on responders' welfare while deployed.

This is vital as the team's volunteers are typically deployed in severe weather to enable nurses and carers to get to their patients in the community, to get key medical and support staff to and from the county's hospitals, and also to ensure that emergency control room staff are able to get to work, so there is someone there to answer a 999 call for help.

Inside the trailer there is all the equipment that might be required to support a major incident, including shelter, lighting, communications, power supplies, tables, chairs and other incidental items needed to help the team on scene respond effectively.

The need for the additional equipment was identified following Christmas 2020 when the team aided the evacuation of Billing Aquadrome; however, the delivery of the trailer and equipment was delayed by Covid-related production issues.

In addition to its response work, during the summer months the team supports larger community events around the county, putting its logistic, communication and team working skills to use at events such as Race for Life, carnivals and sporting events.

The trailer displays the call-sign NH135, which belonged to former volunteer Jason Coombs who passed away in 2019, and with the kind permission of Claire and Abi Coombs the trailer is dedicated to his memory.

Jason was a long-standing member of the team, and through the trailer the spirit of his support continues.

MORE VULNERABLE RESIDENTS TO BENEFIT FROM OVER £2 MILLION SUPPORT FROM NORTH NORTHAMPTONSHIRE COUNCIL

More vulnerable residents in the North Northamptonshire Council area will be given a helping hand through the Government's Household Support Fund 2.

Through the extended scheme the Council will use the £2,465,491 grant provided by the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) for these payments.

While during the first Household Support Fund a minimum 50% was designated to be used to support families with children, this time it is split equally between families with children, pensioners, and also households demonstrating severe financial hardship, with a third of the funding pot allocated to each.

Pensioners receiving Pension Credit will each be awarded £100, with an additional Pension Credit Top Up of £50 for those pensioners with severe disabilities. Pensioners eligible for the payment will be contacted directly by the council in late July; they do not need to go through an application process.

North Northamptonshire Council has opted to again provide support to families with children on free school meals, providing £20 school holiday food vouchers for up to six weeks. There is no requirement to apply for this payment, this will be administered as usual through existing school systems in the form of vouchers that can be redeemed against shopping costs in a range of supermarkets.

The third element of the funding will help North Northamptonshire Council reach households suffering severe financial hardship, identified through a range of organisations within the voluntary sector. This will enable about 8,000 North Northamptonshire households in severe financial hardship to receive up to a £100 energy or food voucher.

The organisations that the council will use to distribute the hardship vouchers are still being identified, however, the council expects to be in a position to start distributing funds in late July. Further communications will be issued nearer the time.

Cllr Jason Smithers, Leader of North Northamptonshire Council, said: "I am delighted that this iteration of the Household Support Fund gives us the ability to help a wider group of vulnerable residents, including pensioners.

"After the success of the first round of funding of this Government grant scheme, the second round will offer continued support for those struggling to make ends meet."
